Today New Zealand Quake, Fire Death Toll Mounts

A BIG DISCUSSION
IT WILL BE TWINS

KEMAL WINS, ALLAH LOSES

The big discussion of the moment concerns relief of Americans in need and how to go about it, if at all. There seems to be more hesitation about relieving Americans by the way, than there was about relieving Armenians and other foreigners in a war that we did not start. We did start this depression war.

Senator Borah in a savagely magnificent speech that might make him president some day if he is not careful, tells of a mother and her children eating "grease and sour meat that you would not give to a dog."

Not only would Borah have an extra session if necessary, but says he "let us stay here until every starving child and woman has been taken care of by the government, whose duty it is to take care of its suffering citizens."

The fight is on between Borah and President Hoover and their respective adherents.

Yesterday the president issued a statement saying that the government should not do anything until charity, meaning the Red Cross, has failed.

The people should rely on mutual self help, says President Hoover, quoting the words of Grover Cleveland under similar circumstances, "it is for the people to support the government, the government should not support the people."

Senator Borah might and probably will reply, "that was not said to the hungry Armenians, or Russians, or the European nations that needed ten thousand millions of our money to continue murdering each other."

Senator Borah says the Red Cross is not strong enough to carry through the job. The government could certainly do it more cheaply and efficiently, by employing men of the army and navy, as might be shown by printing the payroll of the Red Cross for the last year or so, showing how much of the money spent reached salaried individuals, and not starving stomachs.

If congress means to do anything for those in want and should hand the money directly to them, regardless of that terrible word "done," the money would be spent in stores, would help pay clerks' wages, and start business going.

However, that is for the wise men at Washington to decide.

Mr. Cyrus H. K. Curtis's conservative paper prints this in big type: "Birth of twins expected by Mrs. William H. Vanderbilt." A few years ago, such a positive announcement would have been impossible, not to say in shocking taste. But now, the X-ray looks through intervening tissue, and reveals the two little skeletons, with cunning crooked legs, tiny little hands that will never know hard work, and there is no doubt about it being twins.

These little children will be the direct descendants, in the sixth generation, of Commodore Vanderbilt, founder of the family who was able to recognize a good new idea, and changed from a rowing man to getting hold of a railroad, and some millions.

DAMAGE SURVEY IN TWO CITIES SHOWS 400 DEAD

Napier Reduced To Shambles; Hastings Is In Ruins

FAMILIES, IN RUGS, SLEEP ON SEASHORE

Roof of Technical School Drops, Killing Teachers, Students

(By Associated Press)
WELLINGTON, N. Z., Feb. 4.—Preliminary estimates of the death toll at Napier and Hastings jumped to 400 today when surveys of the damage caused by yesterday's earthquake and fire had only begun.

Eye witnesses reported it was impossible to give any accurate figure at present, but agreed there were at least 300 dead in Napier and 100 in Hastings. The number of injured at Napier and Hastings was estimated at upward of 1,000.

Fears prompted by scattered reports from the stricken area were more than realized in information collected from refugees arriving here today.

Napier a Shambles
Survivors said the quake wrecked nearly all the stone buildings in Napier and that the fire, fanned by a breeze coming in from the sea, swept inland, destroying everything in its path.

Napier was a shambles. Among the outstanding tragedies were the collapse of the roof of the technical school. The crumbling of the nurses home and the fall of the school ward of the hospital. Students and teachers were killed.

Nurses Show Heroism
The nurses' home was destroyed while the night staff was still asleep. Some escaped, but the bodies of others lie underneath the wreckage. The nurses showed great heroism, rushing into the rocking building to rescue patients.

Streets in Hastings were choked.

NO FEDERAL AID, COUNTY IS TOLD

Farmers In Southern Ohio Drought Districts Will Benefit

The federal loan fund which was recently made available for farmers in the drought areas will not apply to Columbiana county and other counties of this section, according to a communication just received from the federal department of agriculture by County Agent Floyd Lower.

It does apply, however, to 29 counties in southern Ohio where the drought situation is more serious, and to other states to the south and west.

The communication stated that the department of agriculture felt that it was necessary to restrict the counties which should receive loans to those which have suffered most from the effects of the drought and in which there would be a rather large demand for loans.

STATE TO LET CONTRACTS ON 4 COUNTY JOBS

The bridges are to replace three narrow structures on the Lisbon-Elkton road, and it is said that contractors will be urged to begin work on the projects as early as weather conditions will permit. The estimated cost of the three structures has been placed at $154,500.20 by County Surveyor L. C. Kirk.

Bids will also be opened at this letting for the reconstruction of the brick section of the Lincoln highway in Madison township, which is to be straightened and widened to a width of 20 feet. This job has been estimated at $160,297.19.

Mr. Kirk has been informed that C. E. Wild of Ravenna, has been appointed division highway engineer for this district by Director Merrell. Wild is familiar with all Columbiana county road and bridge projects.

TWO ACQUITTED IN RUM TRIALS

Broader That State's Where Liquor Was Found

CANTON, Feb. 4.—Because the city of Canton has provided for an exemption in its ordinance or prohibition enforcement much broader than the legislature of Ohio has adopted in the state law, acquittal was ordered today by Common Pleas Judge Henry W. Harter, Jr., in two cases coming before him on error proceedings from municipal court.

In the cases involved, John Ingram and May Harlan were found guilty and sentenced to pay fines for possession of liquor. It developed at the trials that liquor was found in the possession of each in this private dwelling, but there was no evidence of sale.

The ordinance on which the prosecution was based refers to one section of the state code and the saving clause therein becomes a part of the ordinance, Judge Harter held. The section defines possession in a private dwelling as no offense.

HOOVER SHUN'S COMPROMISE IN RELIEF DISPUTE

Watson And McNary Leave White House Empty-Handed

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—Compromise negotiations on the congressional relief deadlock slowed up today after President Hoover gave a cool reception to proposals for settlement suggested by senate Republican leaders.

Revive Extra Session Fears
Fears of an extra session were revived at the Capitol as Senators Watson of Indiana, and McNary of Oregon, the Republican chieftains, returned from the White House empty handed.

Neither Watson nor McNary would discuss the talk after the White House breakfast party.

They went to the president with the compromise suggested to the senate yesterday by Senator Harrison, Democrat, Mississippi, on the $25,000,000 Red Cross relief fund, which Mr. Hoover and the house Republicans have refused to accept.

Proposes Federal Fund
The Harrison proposal was that a federal fund be made available to be spent only in the event that charitable organizations found it impossible to administer relief.

The Mississippi put forward with the contention that the responsibility for the extra session would be upon the Republicans, if the stand against any compromise was insisted upon.

Despite the gloom of Senators Watson and McNary as they left the White House, however, there were still signs of a break in the tense situation.

EPIDEMIC TEST SUIT OPENS IN COMMON PLEAS

City Defendant In Damage Action Filed By F. J. Harding

SENT BACK FROM SUPREME COURT

Testimony Was Originally Heard In Lisbon In 1927

Testimony today was opened in common pleas court, Lisbon, in the F. J. Harding damage suit, an action against the city of Salem as a result of the typhoid epidemic prevalent here in 1920.

It is one of a series of twenty suits in which damages aggregating approximately $100,000 are asked.

Harding as Test Case
The Harding action, heard as a "test" case, was opened in the county court at Lisbon in June, 1927, the city being awarded the verdict. Taken to the court of appeals this decision was reversed following which the city took the case to the Ohio supreme court in Columbus from where it was remanded to common pleas court.

Harding claims damages are due him from the city as a result of illness of his daughters Carrie and Ethel due to the epidemic. He is represented by attorneys Curtis M. Shetter of Canton and H. C. Hart of Youngstown.

The city is represented by a staff of attorneys composed of Solicitor Cecil K. Scott, L. P. Metzger, J. H. Sharp, K. L. Coburn, all of Salem, and former Judge W. B. B. of Youngstown.

Testimony Heard Again
Printed testimony taken at the first trial four years ago has been presented in the court. Attorney today predicted that the case will be disposed of by Saturday.

Sessions are in progress in court-room No. 2, presided over by Judge J. C. Oglevie of Carroll county.

CHARLES SEARS NEW DRY CHIEF

Chillicothe Man Appointed In Place Of L. L. Faris, Banker

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, Feb. 4.—Charles H. Sears, of Chillicothe, was appointed state prohibition commissioner by Gov. White today in place of L. L. Faris, Lynchburg banker who declined the appointment.

Sears has been an active Democrat in Ross county. He was a candidate for county recorder at the November election but was nosed out.

Filling the prohibition commissioner's office was the governor's task in the way of major appointments. The appointee's name was to be presented to the state senate for confirmation this afternoon.

Faris refused the directorship in a letter to the governor last Saturday. The chief executive was about to ask the senate to confirm him more than a week ago when charges were made that he had been asked to resign as secretary of the state civil service commission under former Gov. Cox.

Fire Loss Placed At $100,000 Figure

ALLIANCE, O., Feb. 4.—Loss by fire to the building occupied by the Spring-Holzworth department store, was placed at $100,000 by Dillon Crist, owner. The contract for clearing away the debris was given to the firm of W. S. Scott & Son, contractors. Work will probably begin today. All of the walls except those at the front of the building caved in. The front wall presents a hazard to pedestrians and vehicles passing it, and will be removed as soon as possible.

Crist stated no definite plans had been made to erect a new building.

READY FOR EMERGENCIES

Half of North Island in the New Zealand group has been terrorized by an earthquake, which took heavy toll of life and destroyed thousands of buildings. The inhabitants, although accustomed to earthquakes, are reported stunned by the suddenness and scope of the disaster. The city of Napier is affected most seriously.

In the description of the situation, one can find many indications of man's increasing ability to cope with disaster. Shortly after the quake, special detachments of fire fighters flew over Napier in airplanes dropping dynamite into standing buildings to prevent the spread of fire. Temporary dressing stations were set up at many points and medical supplies and aid were rushed to the scene by special trains. Portable radio sets were put into use to obtain news from isolated places, replacing telephone and telegraph lines destroyed by the quake. Fire-fighting equipment designed to draw water from the sea was in general use.

Through the personnel and equipment of British ships stationed off shore, order was being maintained and relief administered. Despite the severity of the disaster it is reported that local officials had the situation under control.

There is more than a slight amount of comfort in the realization of the efficiency with which the world in 1931 is prepared to meet emergencies. In 1931 it would have been days before the world even would have known that anything was wrong on North Island.

WILLING BUT PUZZLED

The discord between the plea from drought-stricken states for food and the acrimonious quarrel in congress concerning the source of the funds to be used in buying it is disheartening. America is willing to help, but the people who make its wishes articulate are torn by dissension. Shall money be taken from the federal treasury or from the hands of the people whose hearts have been touched by the appeal of the hungry?

A referendum undoubtedly would reveal a huge majority in favor of leaving relief work in the hands of the Red Cross and the other established agencies now doing it. Yet, many representatives in congress who pride themselves on their ability to read the signs and get re-elected apparently are blind to popular feeling.

Democrats in the senate, for instance, threaten to throttle the nation by refusing to pass the appropriation bills unless their minority opinion is allowed to prevail. Senator William E. Borah has announced that he will block all further appropriation unless the administration-controlled house yields and consents to a federal appropriation. Senators Caraway and Robinson also have pledged themselves to policies of obduracy, unless their ideas are accepted.

It can only be said that these men mean well—no more. By any standard, and even if they can get such a stranglehold as to win, they are making a blunder. Their slighting comments on the President, who believes with the people that the Red Cross is too valuable to be paralyzed by accepting treasury funds for domestic relief, reflect discredit only on themselves. By standing out against them for a sound policy, Mr. Hoover increases the number of his friends. No one but the basest politician would accuse a man with his record of being cold-hearted in his treatment of the current demands for relief. He is pledged to see that no American shall starve or freeze, if it can be helped, but he also is pledged to keep the treasury solvent, if possible. If defeated, he will gain strength.

It is said that the representatives of the people have strayed so far away from the wishes of their constituents, and it is disconcerting to speculate that before they can be brought back a great deal of harm may be done. America is always willing to help but the middle-mindedness of some of its legislators can believe its good intentions.

What Others Say

A FOOLISH PROPOSAL

A group of Democrats and western radical Republicans in the house of representatives in Washington is agitating for a "liberalization" of the rules so as to permit a committee to be discharged from consideration of a bill by petition of 100 members. The existing rule requires a majority vote.

Congress Robert Luce, a recognized authority on parliamentary practice, states that this change would have the practical effect of increasing the power of the minority "to hamper and even thwart the majority." That was the sort of thing from which Speaker Reed rescued the house exactly 41 years ago—Jan. 29, 1890—when he ordered the clerk to record the names of members present and refusing to vote, a form of obstruction common at that time. The adoption of the "reform" that is now proposed would be a reactionary blow at majority rule in the house.

Among the parliamentary factors that have worked to bring the senate into its present disrepute the relative impotency of a majority to overcome the obstruction presented by determined and aggressive minorities ought not to be overlooked. The effects that might be expected to follow from the adoption of the proposed rule respecting the discharge of committees would similarly tend to lessen the esteem in which the house of country. There is no partisan advantage to be gained from it, as the rule would work as perniciously against a Democratic majority as against a Republican majority; and for that reason it will be surprising if there are found to be enough members of the house who are sufficiently careless of its reputation for conducting its business in a businesslike way to pass any such parliamentary anachronism—Detroit Free Press.

HEALTH

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland

St. Vitus's Dance
"Chorea" or "Saint" Vitus's Dance, as it is commonly called, is a disease of the nervous system. It occurs in early school life, usually among girls between five and 15 years of age.

DR. COPELAND

The exact cause of this disease is not known. It is usually associated with acute rheumatic fever, rheumatism and heart disease. Over-pressure in school work is often an important factor.

Anemia in children must be considered as a factor, because most of the cases show very distinct blood changes. Chorea may follow as a complication of any of the infectious diseases. This is particularly true of scarlet fever and typhoid fever.

The disease comes on slowly. Quite often the child is accused of being "nervous." If at school it is noticed that he is having difficulty in writing or drawing.

At home, the child is continually dropping things, has difficulty in feeding and dressing himself. At times the feet fail, and there is stumbling, with frequent falls and difficulty in climbing stairs. In other cases the spasm is in the face. Unconsciously, he makes grimaces, for which the poor child may be punished.

When the disease is fully developed the movements characteristic of this ailment are unmistakable. There are irregular and jerky motions, varying from an occasional muscular twitching to almost constant agitation.

Excitement, fatigue and embarrassment, or any effort on the part of the child to control these movements, increases them. During sleep the movements disappear.

Unfortunately, these children are brought to the physician's attention weeks after the onset of the disease. Upon the first sign of suspicion of chorea the child should be taken to a doctor. If neglected the condition back of this disease may injure the heart.

Children with chorea should not be permitted to attend school. They should receive plenty of fresh air, nourishing foods and adequate rest. Such children should never be ridiculed or punished because of the movements they cannot help. They cannot control them, and as I have said, any effort on their part to do so increases the movements.

In severe cases the rest treatment is imperative. This means placing the child in bed, where complete mental and physical rest may be obtained. This, perhaps, may be best accomplished in a hospital.

This disease has a tendency to recur, particularly in the spring months. Children who have had one attack should be watched carefully, particularly after they have returned to school. They should not be forced to do too much school work, and should be given frequent vacations.

Children with chorea should not be permitted to attend school. They should receive plenty of fresh air, nourishing foods and adequate rest. Such children should never be ridiculed or punished because of the movements they cannot help. They cannot control them, and as I have said, any effort on their part to do so increases the movements.

With the article he sent what he intended to be his literary swan song. It was a despairing line: "The very best I could do!" In a few days he received an urgent message to call on his agent at once. He went determined to resist any plea to "try it just once more." He was definitely through.

The agent was in a furore of excitement. He had forwarded the article to a weekly magazine and the editor had phoned his enthusiasm. The agent explained the editor's abrupt ending. That unfinished sentence! The writer sat dazed.

For such reasons no one should tell another he cannot write. Had many top notches today heeded the advice of critics they would be punching time clocks in planing mills and spoke factories. Persistence wins in writing as well as in other endeavors.

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—Writers, as well as actors, are often happy victims of the fabled lucky break. The other week an aspiring novice, after working five days completed seven pages of a magazine article and suddenly struck smack in the middle of a sentence.

He tried vainly to carry on but could not crack the spell of sterility. Finally he snatched the page from the machine with a mental vow to quit the game forever. On the verge of tearing up the manuscript, he, instead, placed it in an envelope and mailed it to his literary agent.

STATE IS FAR BELOW NORMAL IN SNOW, RAIN

Winter One Of Driest And Warmest On Record, Say Observers

(By International News Service) WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—The country is passing through one of the driest and warmest winter seasons on record, according to officials of the United States weather bureau.

Ohio has been 46 per cent below normal in precipitation for the last three months, being the lowest on record for any three months in the history of the state.

There has been no snow to compare with the "old-fashioned winter" and the amount of rainfall has been correspondingly scanty.

Over the area hard hit by last summer's drought, there has been a particular lack of moisture during the winter months. December was the driest December on record in the entire country.

The weather bureau's records show that West Virginia's precipitation for the last three months is 10 per cent lower than that for Ohio, being 56 per cent below normal.

Other states far below normal in their precipitation are Kentucky, 52 per cent below; Pennsylvania, 52 per cent; Indiana, 53 per cent; Maryland, 54 per cent; New York, 61 per cent, and Michigan, 62 per cent.

Jump In Telephone Rates Is Protested

ALLIANCE, Feb. 4.—Announcement of a 25 per cent increase in telephone rates on phones used by the Alliance public school system has brought a volley of protests from members of the board of education.

Members of the board went on record as protesting the increased rate charged by the Ohio Bell Telephone Co., and instructed Herbert W. Woolf, clerk of the board of education and business manager of the public school system, to send communications to the telephone company and the state public utilities commission, in which the board's disapproval was expressed.

The increase in rates would mean between $300 and $400 a year additional expense to operate telephones in the school buildings.

Seeing Is Living Says Tarkington

(By United Press)

BALTIMORE, MD., Feb. 4.—Booth Tarkington sat in the Johns Hopkins hospital and told how it feels to know he will be able to see again after he was certain he had lost his sight.

"The most important thing I can tell you," Tarkington said to reporters who clustered around his chair, "is that I will be able to see again."

"Beginning last August my right started to fail and it kept getting worse until my recent operation. For several weeks I could not see at all, but now it is a certainty that I will see."

"I don't believe anyone knows what a thrill it is to be able to see color and form, even though things present a smudged picture yet. It makes all the difference in the world. Seeing is really living."

Asked if he intended to resume writing at once, the author of "Penrod" said "through dictation I'll be able to continue to write."

Resists Police, Man Is Wounded

(By International News Service) CLEVELAND, Feb. 4.—Resisting the attempts of police to arrest him, a man identified as Granville Williams was shot and critically wounded on Cleveland's east side today.

Williams was taken to Charity hospital with two bullet wounds in his stomach. Hospital attaches held little hope for his recovery.

Ordered by Sergeant Otto Diskowski to throw up his hands when the policeman attempted to arrest him on a suspicious person charge, Williams drew a pistol. Detective Stephen Andras fired twice. Police said the man has a criminal record.

WELL-KNOWN MAN PRAISES DIAPEPSIN FOR STOMACH ILLS

"My work as a commercial photographer keeps me on a strain," says J. Walter Ingraham, 1004 21st St., Des Moines, Iowa.

"So my digestion suffered. I got so I would have severe headaches and a heavy feeling in my stomach after meals. I had gas on the stomach; would belch often, leaving a sour, hot taste in my mouth. Few things agreed with me."

"A friend got me to take some Pape's Diapepsin. I had immediate relief from the first few tablets, so I kept on with it. Now I feel fine; eat anything I want without bad after-effects. I intend to keep on with Pape's Diapepsin until I am sure my trouble won't come back. The tablets are pleasant to chew and sure get results quickly."

Pape's Diapepsin is the best thing yet discovered to end digestive worries, give tone to a disordered stomach, increase appetite, make digestion vigorous and complete. Its success in so many cases where everything else has failed, proves that.

All drugstores sell these harmless, pleasant tablets. If you prefer to try them before buying, a letter to Pape's Diapepsin, Wheeling, W. Va., will bring a sample box, FREE.

SENATE'S GROUP TO INVESTIGATE REDISTRICTING

Four Republicans, Two Democrats To Consider Proposed Plan

(By Associated Press) COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 4.—A subcommittee of four Republicans and two Democrats, selected last night by the Ohio senate elections committee, for the purpose of inquiring into the matter of redistricting the state into 24, instead of 22, congressional districts in accordance with the 1930 census.

C. J. Anderson, Chairman

The subcommittee was directed to inquire into the matter and submit a bill to carry out the redistricting plan. C. J. Anderson (R) of Richland county was chosen chairman.

Other members named were Laurence H. Norton, Cleveland; Frank E. Whittemore, Akron and Milton J. Scott, Chillicothe, Republicans, and William A. Greenlund, Cleveland, and T. E. Williams, Celina, Democrats.

The senate elections committee at the same time decided that the bill of Senator Joseph N. Ackerman, (4) Cleveland, making it a violation of the corrupt practices act to submit questionnaires to candidates for public office was too severe and amended it to permit sending questionnaires to determine the candidates' views on a matter but making any demand for a pledge from the office seeker a violation of the law.

School Dispute Aired

The Scioto county school board controversy was brought to the attention of the senate by Senator John A. Lloyd (R), of Portsmouth, whose bill to require any county boards of education to give public notice to all concerned on a contemplated redistricting of the county, was approved unanimously and sent to the house.

The senate joint resolution of taxation submitted originally by Senator James A. Reynolds (R) of Cleveland, but so amended by the Republican majority in the senate and passed by them that the author voted against it, was sent to the house without debate. The resolution, as amended by the senate Republicans, would provide equal representation of the governor on a committee of nine to draft proposed tax legislation.

The house committee on benevolent and penal institutions recommended passage of the bill of Hugh A. Addison (D) of Columbus, which would provide an eight-hour day schedule in state penal institutions guard forces and setting the wage scale.

Blue-Bloods and Alley Cats Rival Fabled Puss-in-Boots for Fame

NEW YORK—The expression "One half doesn't know how the other half lives" is not restricted to humankind. Recent news stories make it apparent that the trite quotation is equally applicable to the feline kingdom and might be paraphrased, "One cat—etc."

ARISTOCRAT FINE
Take Mitzi for example. Mitzi is a resident of San Gabriel, California. She is now 18 years old, a Persian of aristocratic lineage. When Mitzi came into the world she had the traditional silver spoon in her mouth. She became an important member of the household of Mrs. Maude Ide, of San Gabriel, with a boudoir all her own and every luxury that a born-to-the-purple feline has a right to expect.

Today Mitzi's purr is more contented than ever. Fortune has been more than kind. Mitzi's mistress died some time ago and when the will was read it was found that Mrs. Ide had left her beloved mouse-bound. Not only that, but the will decreed that a trust fund be established of $15,000, to provide for Mitzi as long as she lives.

Another cat won wide publicity recently when Mrs. Lena Koller and Mrs. Anna Roettger went to the courts to settle the disputed ownership of an Angora blue-blood. Mrs. Koller is sure that the aristocratic puss is her "Doty" and Mrs. Roettger is equally insistent that the cat's name is "Pet" and belongs to her. The claimants have finally agreed to let a parental blood-test decide the question.

MAKING HISTORY

Kilowatt is another of the species that has acquired a large measure of fame. Kilowatt's home is at radio station WGY, Schenectady, New York. Some time ago he was wandering around his domain, speculating as to the reason why his maternal saucer of milk was so long in coming. Getting more and more impatient, Kilowatt jumped upon a table and gave vent to a long, plaintive "Meow."

It happened that close at hand was a microphone in readiness to establish a new system of radio communication with Sydney, Australia, and Commander Kingsford-Smith, the famous aviator, was to hold the first conversation from Sydney with friends in this country. Kilowatt's meow, however, was the first broadcast over the new system and will doubtless go down to posterity as the meow that was heard around the world.

A different story is that of a nameless alley cat, whom we'll call Gabriel home to be rebowed mouse-Maggie had no illustrious forebears. She was just a nondescript, back fence warbler. But she rose to heights that topped Olympus.

When the Chrysler building was nearing completion one of the army of elevator men was surprised one evening to see a dirty gray cat make an attempt to enter his elevator. He shoed it away. But Maggie—yes, it was our heroine—was not to be balked by a mere elevator man. She wanted to go up in the world and up she would go, by hook or crook. Unfortunately the method whereby she realized her ambition is unknown. But next morning when the workmen went to resume operations at the top of the building they found seven baby cats being cared for by a dirty but proud mother. Somehow Maggie had negotiated the 71 stories from the street and brought her family into the world away up in the clouds.

Maggie's kittens have all been adopted and are in comfortable homes. Maggie? Oh, she vanished as mysteriously as she came. She had her hour in the limelight and—who can tell?—she may be happy with her memory.

A drapery store fell, killing nine girls. Scarcely a chimney was left standing between Napier and Waipukurau, a distance of more than 40 miles. The refrigerating works at Pakipapi were leveled, four persons being killed. The famous Teate college for Maori boys was damaged irreparably but the historic wooden church came through intact.

Towanda, Pa.—"I was working in a silk mill and got so tired and rundown that I weighed only 80 pounds. I was not well enough to do my work. As soon as I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, I began to pick up. After being married for thirteen years, I had a baby boy and the next year I had another boy who now weighs 37 pounds and is healthy as a bear. The Vegetable Compound has helped me in a dozen ways and I hope others will try it too."

IT BABY HAS COLIC

COLIC comes suddenly. Your first intimation that something is wrong may be a warning cry in the night. If you have a bottle of Castoria handy you needn't worry, for a little of this pure vegetable remedy will soon have baby his happy self again; let him go back to sleep.

Castoria is always the sensible thing to give an ailing child. When a child is restless, fretful, with coated tongue, bad breath and lack of appetite, it is a mother's standby. Most mothers give Castoria an important place in their homes. Ready for sour stomach, constipation, or upset. When buying Fletcher's Castoria always look for Chas. H. Fletcher's signature on the wrapper. This identifies the genuine product.

WHEN MONEY'S SCARCE GRIN AND BUDGET

And when money's plentiful, do the same. For a house without a budget is like a ship without a compass or a horse without reins. It runs away with itself.

So budget with the help of your neighborhood A&P where you can be sure of getting real co-operation in the shape of good food at consistently low prices. For A&P stores transact business on such a large scale that they can afford to sell at a little more than cost.

Furthermore, they don't let you get into debt as far as they're concerned, for they sell only for cash—another reason their prices are always so moderate.

So keep your house in order by planning efficiently and spending a little time and money at the nearest A&P. That's the way to make both ends meet when money's scarce. And it's the intelligent way to run a household even when money is plentiful.

OLD GOLD SPILLS THE BEANS IN BOSTON

Upsets rival brands with Sweeping Victory, in Ripley's latest Taste-Test

They held another "tea-party" at Boston the other day. "Down with the tyranny of habit!" was the cry. "Let's find out which cigarette really tastes the best."

From Back-Bay to the Fishing Docks, it was another Boston rebellion. Throwing brand prejudice overboard . . . more than a thousand Boston smokers compared the four leading cigarettes, with the brand names hidden.

They didn't know which was which. All they wanted was to pick out the best tasting cigarette.

At Lexington . . . modern Minute Men needed hardly a minute to give O. G. a 2 to 1 victory. At Bunker Hill, OLD GOLD's cool, throat-easy quality completely routed the enemy.

"No taxation without representation" . . . said the Boston of long ago. "No throat-tax . . . and unlimited smoking joy" says the Boston of today.

STATE AND RED CROSS TO HELP DROUGHT AREAS

Trucks And Tanks To Be Used For Hauling Water

(By Associated Press) COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 4.—The state and the Red Cross are moving to alleviate conditions in the drought area of southeastern Ohio where water supplies have been depleted and considerable suffering reported.

Under the direction of the state relief committee, named by Governor White, Highway Director O. W. Merrell announced that state highway trucks and tanks should be utilized for hauling water to municipalities where shortages are reported. Merrell also announced plans of the department for putting down new wells.

Cities, Towns Are Hit

Adjutant General Frank D. Henderson disclosed that several cities and towns are in bad condition from water shortage.

Among the towns reported were Barnesville—water supply almost exhausted; New Concord—regular supply used up and damming ditches to obtain additional supplies. About two weeks water left in the ditches; Woodsfield—from two to three weeks of water available; Wellsburg—regular water supply system and reservoirs abandoned and water now being pumped from the Ohio river; its taste is not satisfactory; Caldwell and Corning, regular supply used up and now using rain from creeks.

Director Merrell said the highway department will be able to provide employment to many persons within a short time on the maintenance and repair and new construction of state highways.

Director John McSweeney of Welfare announced that he would rush to completion the state institutions under construction and any maintenance and repairs necessary so that employment could be provided for those out of work.

Plan County Committees

The governor's committee decided that each county should provide a local committee composed of the probate judge, county health officer, superintendent of schools, a representative of the Red Cross and a representative of the American Legion. This committee would cooperate with the state organization.

The committee also approved the bill of State Senator J. G. Lowery (R) of New Concord, which would set aside $50,000 to be expended for the purchase of shoes, clothing and medical attention for all school children in the drought and unemployment areas where parents were unable to provide for the children.

TODAY

How quickly generations pass, especially in the case of the very rich and very poor. Both classes marry young, the poor to make life bearable, the rich because so many offer to marry them.

A well dressed young man got off in New York yesterday, at the Grand Central station, took the elevator in the Biltmore hotel close by, to the 14th floor and jumped. His wrist watch was marked "Jerry M. Noonan of Santa Fe, N. M." and he had written a telegram saying: "I have arrived at my final destination."

That telegram raises the interesting question: Do we reach a final destination, when we jump, from here?

It says in the Bible: "In my Father's house are many mansions." Do we go to some one of them, and stay there forever, or do we travel from one planet, or big star, to another, on through the series of millions and millions of universes as far as relativity will permit, with constant change and new experiences, and perhaps, improvement all the way? That would be an attractive program.

Kemal Pasha, forceful Turk, disagrees violently with orthodox Mohammedans. They said he was disobeying the prophet's orders, erecting statues to himself and others, taking the fez from men's heads, veils from women's faces.

They were right. But in the fight with Mohammed, Kemal has won.

A string of 28 corpses now swinging on gibbets in the cold wind, prove that Kemal is the boss, and that there is no longer a caliph, direct representative of the prophet and of Allah.

Two or three hundred more may be hanged, to swing in the same fashion, as a warning the Kemal Pasha is here, Allah and Mohammed far away.

As the wind "bloweth where it listeth," so the earthquakes. And disaster following, strike where they please.

The city of Napier, in New Zealand, down on the other side of the earth is leveled to the ground, with more than a hundred dead, thousands injured and perhaps many more, fire destroying buildings, the earthquake having cut off the water supply.

This disaster, amounting in money to millions of dollars, is the worst that ever has befallen the island of New Zealand. Roads are broken, bridges destroyed, the entire business district of the important town of Napier wiped out.

Dies Of Injuries

CINCINNATI, Feb. 4.—Charles Brown, 50, sustained fatal injuries yesterday when a heavy grinding machine on the second floor of the McWilliams and Schulte Box company here caved in the floor.

"Seven! Come Eleven!" Goes High Hat

Mrs. JULIAN SLOAN Mrs. JEROME NAPOLEON BONAPARTE • W. WRIGHT WATSON Mrs. SAMUEL ADAMS CLARK

PALM BEACH, Fla.—Under any name, it is the fact of the hour. Everybody is doing it, with more or less skill. The Scots call it "tables"; the ancient Romans, "scripta duodecim"; the Persians, "nard"; the Egyptians, "taxulab"; the Hebrews, "kubb"; the French, "jeu de dames"; the English, "backgammon"; but they all mean "backgammon."

Society—which means that portion of the community whose leadership in social customs is worth following—has enthusiastically taken up the game. A bandit who intruded on the privacy of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Brokaw, wealthy New Yorkers, found them immersed in backgammon, they admitted.

That event probably gave the game more publicity and impetus than any single event in its modern history. Although about a thousand social registerites gathered in the Hotel Astor to play backgammon for a charity recently, the event got less space than the lone bandit's intrusion on the Brokaw's game.

In spite of the fact that the fact is fairly new, the social leaders already are practicing innovations on the game. At a recent house party here, the hostess, Mrs. Charles M. Hall, of Chicago, organized a game outdoors in which the pieces were human beings instead of checkers, and huge dice were cast to determine the plays.

The popularity of the game probably is due to the need for but two players for a contest and the use of dice in the play—the same dice that have made "seven" and "eleven" famous—according to Harold Thorne, one of the nation's authorities on the game, who has devised six new moves. Dice, he points out, were the first gambling device used by human beings.

"The origin of backgammon isn't clear," Thorne declared. "But it was a favorite pastime with the ancients as far back as written history goes. It's a curious thing the way the game has taken on different characters in different ages and different times. 'Sometimes, as in France of the Middle Ages, backgammon was a medium for wild and spectacular gambling. In England, on the other hand, it has long been a quiet pastime for rainy days, dignified, sedate.

"It was played by the Egyptians thousands of years ago, and by the Hebrews; by the Romans, Greeks, French, Germans, Spanish, Scotch, and Welsh. With all these nationalities it reaches back into historic mists. Who first contrived it, no one knows."

The game frequently crops up in history. King James I of Scotland played it the night before he was assassinated. The manner of play had nothing to do with his death, however.

And there is a colorful story about the Duke of Albany and his tragic backgammon game in 1479. The Duke, challenged to a game, banteringly, by a prisoner awaiting execution, consented to play. The game went on far into the night. No one knows just how it happened, but the next morning the attendants found the dapper Duke slumped over the table, dead. The hilt of a knife between his ribs.

The lovely royal ladies of France at its courtliest period, it is said, played backgammon when they tired of reading or embroidering, doubtless they would be surprised at the brisk tempo of the modern game, played by equally lovely ladies. It is really the same old backgammon enlivened by a few new moves and methods.

Humane Agencies To Fight Cruelty

Plans for a county-wide campaign against cruelty to animals, with Columbiana county humane agencies cooperating, were announced today by C. E. Donahay, county dog warden.

Efforts to combat cruelty to animals will be made by the various organizations, Donahay said, with arrests resulting in all cases where cruelty is reported.

Donahay announced that a reward of $5 cash will be given to anyone offering information leading to the identity of the person or persons who abandoned six two-month-old puppies near the Votaw school on the Hanoverton-Salem road, Sunday afternoon.

The dogs, the warden explained, were placed near the school and left to die, being discovered by a small boy who took them home following which they were placed in Donahay's care.

Large Basement Available

The basement, which is equal to the size of the entire building, is available for Sunday school sessions and social purposes, a stage being erected at one end while a kitchen, boiler room and coal rooms are located at the rear end. The building is heated by a vapor system.

Special services will be held all next week starting Monday night, various church organizations being in charge of programs each evening. Visiting pastors will deliver sermons, a large gathering of church people from Salem and the entire Northeastern Ohio district being expected.

Giant Flying Boat Held At Gando Bay

(By International News Service) LAS PALMAS, CANARY ISLANDS, Feb. 4.—Continuation of the bad luck which has dogged the Do-X ever since she left Allenheim, Switzerland, three months ago to attempt a flight across the Atlantic, today held the giant million dollar German flying boat at Gando Bay, near here.

While attempting a takeoff for the Cape Verde Islands in rough seas yesterday morning several braces and supports of the ship were bent and strained. Repair parts will have to be brought from Germany and prospects of a continuation of the flight before March are remote.

"THE MAN WHO CAME BACK"

At The State

Charles Farrell and Janet Gaynor are reunited again in "The Man Who Came Back" which tells the story of young Stephen Randolph played by Farrell, who, enervated by too much wealth, sinks to the very gutter, only to be redeemed by the devotion of his sweetheart, Angie, enacted by Miss Gaynor. How the love of these two down and outers gives them strength to drag themselves from the mire, and climb upward into the sunlight, makes one of the most powerful stories ever brought to the Movietone screen.

The settings for the picture are unusually colorful, in that the story moves from New York to San Francisco, thence to Shanghai, to Hawaii, and back to New York.

It is a vehicle particularly suited to the talents of both Miss Gaynor and Farrell, a romantic drama that carries them through the gamut of human experience. From the nightmare of degradation to the rosy dreams of happiness.

Through the very power of their personalities, they carry us with them in imagination, throughout the series of difficulties which at times seem insurmountable.

"QUEEN HIGH"

At The Grand

Charlie Ruggles, the veteran comedian of stage and screen, is a butler again.

Several years ago Ruggles played the comedy lead in "Battling Butler," one of the big musical hits of its season. Now the same laughing Ruggles is the business man who turns butler against his will in the hilarious "Schwab and Mandel" production, "Queen High," now playing at the Grand.

Ruggles has provided comedy in a number of recent talking successes—"Gentlemen of the Press," "The Lady Lies," "Roadhouse Nights," and "Young Man of Manhattan." He was a member of the cast of the original Broadway production of Schwab and Mandel's "Queen High."

Ruggles and Frank Morgan, two Broadway veterans of funmaking, head the comedy support, Stanley Smith and Ginger Rogers, are the romantic leads in this amusing tale of big business and monkey business.

Mount Union Cagers Battle Wooster College Thursday Night GROVE ELECTRICS DEFEAT GOLDEN EAGLE, 39-27, IN LEAGUE TILT

THE DAY In Sports

While his basketball players were locked in a death struggle with examinations last week, Ray Detrick, whose teams leading the Buckeye Athletic association, dropped into the office and imparted the information that "off nights" which sometimes come along to ruin a fast traveling basketball team's chances don't just happen. There's a reason, says Detrick.

"A team that is following training rules carefully and is in good condition does not have off nights."

Detrick admits, of course, that a team may get out of condition as a result of going stale and carefully avoids this by sending his team through no scrimmages during the week and having as little practice as possible.

Detrick fears co-eds more than he fears all the other teams in the Buckeye association. Too much social life, he believes to be the worst possible thing for his players. "The boy who has frequent dates inevitably keeps irregular hours, eats between meals and goes in for confectiery and soda water is getting his team in shape for a first class off night," says the Wesleyan mentor.

Clubs in the Canton golf district will engage in a series of combats during the 1931 campaign under a schedule endorsed by the Stark county organization. The majority of the clubs of the organization will be represented. Two rounds of matches will be staged, starting about the middle of June and continuing through the early part of September.

Basketball teams from the Tri-State district will gather at Youngstown on March 12, 13 and 14 for the Penn-Ohio tournament.

This tournament will be patterned after similar affairs which have been held successfully in East Liverpool and Sebring, but will go a step farther in including a separate division for girls' teams. Nearly a score of girls' teams, playing under boys' rules are expected to compete.

John Carroll university of Cleveland has re-opened negotiations with 10 prominent colleges in an effort to fill the November 14 football date left open when the game with the U. S. Marines was shifted to Thanksgiving.

Schools approached by Carroll are Detroit, Fordham, Georgetown, Loyola, St. Louis, Centenary, W. & J. Michigan State, West Virginia and Drake.

The tail-end of the Wittenberg basketball season is far from being the rag end.

Frequently the second half of a court schedule means meeting teams that have been encountered before, but not so for Wittenberg.

February presents seven games for the Compton men and of this number only two have been met earlier this season—Dayton and Heidelberg. One new foe has already been met this month, Wittenberg playing Xavier Tuesday night.

The remainder of the month's games, February 6, Marshall there; February 10 Xavier at Springfield; February 13 Detroit at Springfield; February 17 Heidelberg at Tiffin; February 25 W. & J. at Springfield and February 27 Dayton at Springfield.

CHICAGO, Feb. 4.—H. O. "Pat" Page, who resigned as head football coach of Indiana university last month, will return to his alma mater, the University of Chicago, on April 1, as assistant to Coach Alonzo A. Stagg.

The announcement of Page's appointment was made last night by Vice President Frederick Woodward of Chicago, who said that Stagg had recommended Page for the job of line coach.

Page resigned from the Indiana coaching staff after his team and passed through an unsuccessful season.

Class A Teams Battle To Close Decision In Sensational Contests

A strengthened Grove Electric company basketball team handed the Golden Eagle cagers, city champions, their first defeat in Salem Class A competition this season, rolling up a 39-27 score in a hard-fought battle at the Memorial building gymnasium Tuesday night.

The Electric outclassed the champions throughout the contest and after holding a three-point lead at the end of the first half, flashed a great offensive drive that annihilated the champs in the third and fourth periods.

Tied At Quarter
The winners stepped ahead early in the first quarter but the Golden Eagle staged a slight comeback and with a flurry of three field goals tied the score at 11-all. Both teams concentrated on defensive play in the second quarter, the Golden Eagle being held to a lone field goal while the Grovemen connected for two baskets from action and a foul shot.

The third quarter found both trying plenty of shots at the hoop each registering five field goals while the Electric attained a two-point advantage by caging a pair of charity shots. The champions were helpless in the fourth quarter as the Grovemen continued their offensive attack, ending the contest holding a decisive 12-point margin.

It was a great struggle featured by close guarding of both outfits. The Electric had a heavy advantage in obtaining possession of the ball for the greater portion of the contest, Springer controlling the tip-off in jumping against Sanders, leading scorer of the league in the first half. Sanders was held to a pair of field goals while Springer collected four fielders and three fouls for 11 points.

Scullion Stars
High-score laurels for the battle went to Scullion who garnered four baskets from action which, combined with four fouls, gave him 12 points. Nate and Max Caplan led the losing team's scoring attack. Kelley and Older starring in all around work.

The Electric presented added power on the court in the addition of Springer and Slinger into the contest. Slinger, one of the league's outstanding back-guards, registered two field goals.

The McArthur Florists started the second half round with a 27-25 victory over the Electric Furnace in a sensational battle won in the last two minutes of play. The furnace put up a great battle but fell before superior offensive work of the Posies who led all through the game by a slight margin.

Both teams gave a stellar exhibition displaying the fact that the second round of play in the Class A circuit will be closely contested between the four aggregations.

Unemployment To Have Little Effect On Baseball; Hundreds Given Jobs For 1931 Season

(By Associated Press)
CHICAGO, Feb. 4.—There will be no depression this year for the rookie hopefuls who seek bigger and better pay days in the ranks of the American league.

Help wanted signs dangling from every club office in the league, have attracted 130 applicants, all of them have been welcomed with open arms. Opportunity is everywhere for those able to deliver.

Although his team successfully captured the American league pennant for the second straight year and then added another world's championship, Connie Mack of the Philadelphia Athletics will take a dozen or more young pitchers to the White Elephants' training camp. He admits he needs better support for Bob Grove and George Earnshaw and opportunity will be plentiful.

Yanks in Distress
Pitchers are the crying need of Joe McCarthy and his New York Yankees too. Eight experienced hurlers will try out with the Yanks. Two young outfielders of great promise, Myril Hoag of Sacramento and Fred Walker of Jersey City, also will get a chance.

Detroit, seeking more punch at the bat, has grabbed off several fence busting outfielders.

Chicago and St. Louis needed infielders and went after them. The Browns picked up three young sensations from the Texas league, Burns, Storti and Levey of Wichita Falls, and two good minor league catcher prospects. The White Sox, experimenting with good looking youngsters, have a flock of young talent.

Indians Buy Thomas
Cleveland needed first string pitching aid and bought Fay Thomas of Sacramento and Craighead of Oakland, both with experience. The Indians also picked up two third basemen, Deane of New Orleans and Winegarner from El Dorado, one of whom may replace Joe Sewell.

Washington had a great pitching staff last year but will try out a few youngsters and give three infielders a chance. Boston, cellar team last year, will take almost a score of rookies to Pensacola. Three of them—Catcher Muddy Ruel, Pitcher Wiley Moore and Pitcher Johnny Brillheart—can hardly be classed as rookies as they have been up before.

Of the 130 recruits, many have been up before but most of them are new to the majors.

Girl Track Champ Prepares for Meet

Miss Mary Ladewig, of Philadelphia, national field and track champ, is going to be ready to defend her laurels in the first of the indoor meets at the Melrose Athletic Club in New York. The charming member of the Meadowbrook teams is in intensive training.

Unbeaten Conference Teams To Clash; Salem Court Stars Will Play

Two of Ohio's most powerful collegiate basketball teams, Mount Union and Wooster, undefeated in their campaigns for championship laurels in the Ohio Conference league contest, clash in a fight for the supremacy of the Buckeye circuit at Memorial hall, Alliance, at 8 p. m. Thursday.

The game looms as one of the most important on the schedule of each of the two teams who are engaged in a desperate fight for conference titular honors. Both have an abundance of veteran basketball material, strong scoring offensives and formidable defenses, one of the year's hardest fought battles looming when they clash.

Interest High Here
Much interest is being displayed in the conflict in Salem, two local scholastic products, Robert Cops and Lowell Allen being members of the Mount Union Purple varsity while E. M. ("Mose") Hole, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Hole, Salem, is directing the destinies of the invading Wooster aggregation. Hole, a graduate of Lisbon High school, lived in Salem prior to going to Wooster and has had success in his coaching activities.

Cope will in all probability start at the center position for the Mountmen despite the fact that Lorin Landamood, rangey Alliance High star of three seasons ago, is back in a suit after a month's lay-off because of injuries. Cope proved his right to a regular place in Mount's starting lineup with scintillating performances in practically every contest the team has played to-date. Allen has not seen as much action as his colleague but is being groomed for a place with the varsity in future seasons. He will very likely break into the lineup against Wooster.

Both Undefeated
Wooster and Mount enter their clash with clean slates in their battle for conference laurels. In games already played, Wooster has displayed a slightly stronger offense while Mount's contests have been featured by a sterling defense. So far Wooster has won seven conference victories, two over both Kent and Ashland and one each over Baldwin-Wallace, Kenyon and Case. Mount's 52-19 victory over Kent

Jewelry Business Contributes To Culture Of Home And City

Artistic Products On Display At Store Of Local Jewelry Expert

Artistic objects of all kinds greet the visitor to the jewelry store of Art the Jeweler at 462 East State street, where Art displays many things that contribute to the culture of the city and its home decorations.

Silverware, fine china, cut glass, pewter sets, toilet sets, most attractive leather goods, including the famous Cardova leathers, fountain pens and a number of other attractive pieces add to the large stock of diamonds, precious stones, jewelry of all kinds, watches and clocks. The store is worth a visit at any time, and the stock does credit to the selective taste of the proprietor. Art is a watchmaker of experience, with the necessary machinery to do all classes of watch, clock and jewelry repairing; among the machines being a grinding lathe for shaping watch crystals for irregular watches, motors for polishing and other tools.

Established a year ago, the place has won the confidence of the Salem public by its strict attention to the needs of its customers and the superiority of the work done. Art's slogan is "The customer must be satisfied" and from the number of folks who have become permanent customers, it would seem that they are pleased with both the merchandise and the service that goes with it.

HORSE STILL IN POPULAR USE IN HANNAY WORK

Although we are living in a machine age, there are some types of work in which the horse still holds sway. The thinking person will agree that there must be some logical reason for this. It must be that the horse has been found more efficient, more economical, and capable of giving more satisfactory service by many who are engaged in trucking, draying, and team work.

This has been the experience of M. W. Hannay, 538 Columbia, who has been doing this kind of work here for years. The horses Mr. Hannay uses in his business are fine draft animals of the highest type and he is justly proud of them. In fact, Mr. Hannay is recognized as an authority on horses in this section of the country and folks who want draft horses of the better kind have learned to depend on him when making their purchases. During recent years the sale and trading of draft horses has become the most important phases of his business.

Farmers and haulers in this county have formed the habit of visiting M. W. Hannay whenever they are in Salem because they have found that he has some remarkably good buys in draft horses from time to time.

MONK GARAGE POPULAR WITH AUTOISTS HERE

Business-Like Methods Of Workers Bring Many Good Results

Automobile service that is worth while is one of those things that every driver wants to find and that he cherishes with fondness when once he locates it. That might be the reason that the Monks Garage at 292 West State street is so popular.

Drivers find here men who know how to fix the car up, who go at it in a businesslike way, and who do the work with such system and thoroughness that the charges are low. There is a lot in knowing how—and it saves the motorist money in time charges.

This garage gives the motorists of Salem twenty-four hour service, and it is equipped to do what is to be done as it should be done. The work car is ready to go out when needed, a truck is equipped to make road repairs, and there is a snap and cheerfulness about the service that makes it a pleasure to do business with its employees.

It might be a good thing to paste a little line on your windshield that would read, "Call 103 for road service" and be ready for eventualities. A good garage—a really good one—is a very present help in time of trouble, and the Monks Garage has a fine reputation for being on the job.

Pennzoil Ethyl Gasoline Seen As Great Aid To Auto Industry

"Pennzoil Ethyl gasoline, a development of General Motors research laboratories, is automotive science's latest contribution to motorist satisfaction," according to H. J. Ealey, branch manager of the Pennzoil company. "It turns the carbon that forms with each explosion in your cylinders into an agency of service—the increased pressure which carbon causes becoming extra power with Pennzoil ethyl gasoline."

"In terms of driving, Pennzoil

ethyl gasoline causes the engine to run more smoothly and delivers more power, particularly on hills and heavy roads. It causes the motor to accelerate more quickly and makes the car easier to handle in traffic. It reduces gear-shifting and eliminates "knocking," without retarding the spark.

"By preventing knocking, permitting full spark advance and reducing gear-shifting, this ethyl gasoline tends to give increased mileage as a car becomes well carboned and therefore higher compression. In my opinion, Pennzoil ethyl gasoline has no substitute, nothing is comparable to this magic fuel and I sincerely believe that the first tankful will convince the most discriminating car owner of its merits."

If you wish to convince yourself of the truth of Mr. Ealey's statements, it is suggested that you drive around to the Pennzoil station on Lincoln road and try some of this ethyl gasoline which is proving so popular among the motorists of this section.

CARE USED BY TAXI DRIVERS

Wright Explains Safety Methods Of Salem Cab Operators

Salem folks who have ridden in some of the taxis in larger cities appreciate the service of our own Wright Taxi Company. Those "big-time" cabs certainly give the occupants plenty of thrills—in fact one would think they were driving on the Indianapolis Speedway instead of city streets. Around corners on two wheels, hair breadth escapes, pedestrians' coat tails being dusted right and left, screaming brakes, sudden stops just in time, bumps, bruises, and a fare at the end of a wild journey that looks like the German war debt!

What a contrast this is to the careful, courteous treatment one receives when riding in one of our Wright cabs. Although these comfortable cabs always are prompt and "take you there" with reasonable speed, "safety first" is the by-word with this firm and the drivers have consideration for the rights of other people. You can ride in a Wright taxi with the same assurance of safety and confidence that you enjoy when riding in your own car. And best of all, it's economical transportation.

The next time your car fails to start, or you don't want to be bothered with the parking problem, just remember that you can call 901 or 266 and one of Wright's new Chevrolet sedans will arrive at your door in a jiffy.

Rough on the Widows

A petition was presented in March, 1923, to the governor of South Carolina, signed by 10 maid, complaining that widows should be restrained from captivating eligible bachelors, that their more youthful charms are neglected, and that no widow should be allowed to marry until the malds were provided for. —Grit.

More Dates for Dessert

Dates are a delight to cooks who enjoy experimenting with new flavors. For they have a unique, incomparable, unanalyzable flavor of their own, and it creates especially delightful blends with other foods. Dates and walnuts, dates with pineapple or pears or bananas, dates with coconut or macaroons, dates with pecans—these are only a few of the possibilities. Incidentally dates are a simple and wholesome sweet for children, and can well take the place of a rich cake dessert in the lunch box occasionally. A nourishing dessert is:

Date Custard

1 cup pitted dates
2 eggs
2 cups milk.
1/2 teaspoon almond flavor.
Dash of salt.
Place the dates in a saucepan and cover with water. Soak an hour, then place on the stove and simmer over a low flame until tender. Then force through a colander. Add beaten eggs, milk and flavoring, and pour into custard cups. Set in hot water and bake in a moderate oven until firm.

Date Whip

1 cup pitted dates
1/2 cup shelled walnuts
1 cup cream
1 teaspoon lemon juice
1/2 teaspoon almond or vanilla flavoring.

Wash dates and run through a fine chopper with the walnuts. Thin with a little plain cream. Whip cream stiff, then fold into the date and walnut mixture, add flavorings and pile into sherbet cups. Set on ice to chill. Serve garnished with a halved walnut or some maraschino cherries.

HOME-MAKING HELPS

Plaids, the Decorative Touch
For lightening up the work rooms and storage spaces in the home there's nothing like plaid. And this year, more than ever, they are to be seen in abundance, for plaids are coming back as dress fabrics. In silks, cottons, voiles and the various synthetic fabrics, plaids of brilliant hues are displayed—indeed, they have even, invaded the waterproofs and oilcloths.

A practical value of plaids is the relative permanence of their way blues. Dust does not affect their brilliance so quickly, and if suitable fabrics are chosen for the use intended, cleansing is easy.

Plaid curtains for kitchen and bathroom windows are very practical. In the kitchen cotton fabrics may be used or if a complete plaid effect is possible then oilcloth plaids can be obtained in different widths to take care of windows, closets and shelves. However, only a large kitchen can stand quite that much, but if it is one of those excessively (and rare) roomy affairs, then plaid will brighten it up a good deal.

Plaids are also cheerful as a lining for the numerous closets. In cottons of light weave they can be made up for decorative curtaining of linen closets, clothes closets and occasional cupboards. In the more sturdy fabrics they are utilized as coverings for chests of drawers, shoe closets, hat boxes, small linen chests, dressing tables and so on.

Plain walls are, of course, the necessity for juxtaposition with plaids. There can be no competition for attention between a pattern of any kind and a plaid, unless, of course, it is a pattern that repeats the plaid in some way. And, of course, the colors of the plaid must carry out the scheme suggested by the shades of other objects in the room.

No More Gas In Stomach and Bowels

If you wish to be permanently relieved of gas in stomach and bowels, take Baumann's Gas Tablets, which are prepared especially for stomach gas and all the bad effects resulting from gas pressure.

That empty, gnawing feeling at the pit of the stomach will disappear; that painful, nervous feeling with heart palpitation will vanish, and you will again be able to take a deep breath without discomfort.

That drowsy, sleepy feeling after dinner will be replaced by a desire for entertainment. Bloating will cease. Your limbs and fingers will no longer feel cold and "go to sleep" because Baumann's Gas Tablets prevent gas from interfering with the circulation. MAJOR LEAGUES AGREE TO USE NEW-TYPE BALL

Hope To Lessen Number Of Homeruns During Coming Season

(By Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—Major league batsmen who slugged 1,506 balls over the fences or into the bleachers last season, will have a new and "deader" ball to swing at this year.

Both the National and American leagues have decided that the home run barrage has gone far enough and a change in the ball's physical aspects is the result.

Thicker Cover Planned
In the National league, the ball will have a thicker cover and heavier stitches. In the American league, the cover will be the same but the stitches will be heavier.

Not only will these changes take some of the liveliness out of the ball, Major league officials confidently expect, but also will give the pitchers a better grip on the ball and thereby increase their effectiveness.

Hampered
Of restrictions, pitchers have complained for several years that the smoothness of the ball's cover has made it extremely difficult to control.

Will Aid Pitching
The changes are not drastic enough for any radical decrease in hitting. Officials of both leagues do believe, however, that the changed ball will result in greater pitching efficiency, a decrease in the number of "trick" home runs and a slump in the inflated batting averages of the last few years.

Last season, for instance, ten players in the majors hit 35 home runs or more. Hack Wilson of the Chicago Cubs led both leagues with 56 and Babe Ruth of the New York Yankees was runner-up with 49.

All told the National league hit 892 home runs; the American, 674.

Cage Star

ALLIANCE, Feb. 3.—Leo Grimes scoring guard on the Mount Union Purple cagers is one of Coach Bob Wright's aces who will make the sledging touch for Wooster in a clash between the two leading teams of the Ohio Conference in Memorial hall at Alliance, Thursday at 8:00 p. m.

This 195 pound football fullback is an outstanding guard on Mount's strong defense and also rates high in offensive work.

UNBEATEN CONEERENCE

State Saturday illustrated great improvement in the team's offense but such an easy contest prior to a nerve-racking battle of titular importance is seen by Wright as no great aid to his team in its preparation for the Wooster game.

Rivalry between the two schools is keener than their relations with any other school in Ohio and Wright is particularly anxious for a victory on that account.

Sixteen games have been played between the two rivals in eight years. Mount has been victorious in 12 and Wooster in four of the games but three of Wooster's wins came in the last four years, displaying the fact that the latter is gradually becoming a power in conference activities.

Wooster was defeated in the game at Mount last year by a 35-29 score in a hectic battle while Mount's varsity dropped a 23-26 verdict to the favorites in the return fracas at Alliance.

A large crowd of Salem cage addicts will journey to Alliance for the struggle because of keen interest being evinced here in Mount's athletic activities.

Greater Optimism Shown By Ohio Golfers As Season For Assault On Par Approaches

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS, Feb. 3.—Golfers from the state at large, having cracked open Columbus' domination of Buckeye golf during 1930, are viewing the approaching season with considerably more optimism than they had at this time last year.

On the eve of the 1931 campaign all the important state and Central district championships were held by golfers from the capital city. Denny Shute was unchallenged among the professionals, John Florio, a mere boy, was amateur champion, and Mrs. Curtis Schell was champion among the women.

Champs Lose Titles
Mrs. Schell and Florio lost their titles last summer, however, Johnny's was picked up by another Columbusian, Glen Bishop. This allowed the rest of the state only the consolation of the women's championship, won by little Miss Hauck of Toledo.

And although Shute's superiority among the pros was not questioned as he went farther than any of the others in the national professional tournament, Bob Shave of Aurora, near Cleveland, attracted much recognition. He had a lower qualifying score than Shute or anyone else at the P. G. A. sectional trial in Lima and he was the ranking Ohio player in the National open at Minneapolis, in which Shute was whipped early.

So Bishop, as amateur champion, and Shute as state open title holder, will be the only Columbus golfers defending state championships this summer, unless Charley Nixon, the southpaw champion, is included as perhaps he should be. Nixon also won in 1929.

Amateurs Not Discouraged
The pros have practically disappeared of ever catching Shute, but the amateurs are by no means discouraged about the task of breaking Columbus' four year hold on that championship. Shute won in 1927 while still an amateur, Bill Deuschel won in 1928, Florio in 1929 and Bishop in 1930. Shute, Florio and Bishop all were competing for the Elks golf club which Deuschel has transferred to the Arlington Country club shortly before he won his title, almost a clean sweep for the old and coveted title for the B. P. O. E.

No champion will have sterner competition than Miss Hauck and Bishop this year. Neither was considered a possibility on the eve of the tournament, a year and a half ago, when the paths to conquer the championship were thought to be closed. Florio defeated Ray Miller of Toledo 1 up, over the Toledo Country club course after all the favorites and but four known golfers had eliminated themselves. Florio, sick with infected teeth and a series of boils, could not do himself justice, while the brilliant but inconsistent players found the out-of-bounds stakes too frequently.

Women Display Fight
Miss Hauck won her title at the Scioto club, Columbus, defeating Mrs. Schell in the finals, 3 and 1. Only the greatest show of fearlessness and determination pulled the young Toledo girl through. She won from Miss Martha Kinsey of Cincinnati in the semi-final and Mrs. Schell beat Miss Edith Begg of Cleveland.

Shute won his open title for the second consecutive year with a 72-hole total of 287 strokes at the Columbus Elks course. P. O. Hart of Marietta was second four strokes back and Jim Kenney of Toledo third.

In the National open Shave tied for seventeenth position with 303 strokes while Shute required 305 to tie for twenty-fourth place. Tom Raklets of Akron had 316 and Ted Gibraski of Jackson 321. Shave and Shute will not have to qualify this year.

Grid Teams To Meet At Cleveland Field

CLEVELAND, O., Feb. 4.—Purdue and Carnegie Tech may clash on the gridiron of Cleveland's new municipal stadium, now under construction, in 1932, if the efforts of Noble Kizer, Purdue coach are successful.

Kizer, after an inspection of the stadium yesterday, said he expected to be in Pittsburgh next week and would urge the eastern school to consent to transfer of the game here. He said he would support the move before the Purdue faculty athletic board.

Sports, Literature, Business Claim Film Stars' Interest

Survey Of Gay Hollywood's Moving Picture Studios Reveals Many Celebrities Who Don't Crave Headlines

By RONALD WAGONER

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

HOLLYWOOD, CAL., Feb. 4.—A United Press survey of gay Hollywood's moving picture studios indicates that scores of film celebrities lead such quiet lives that the chances appear slight that their names ever will appear in sensational headlines.

Happy marriages, engaging hobbies, sideline business interests and such amusements as golf, swimming, tennis, horseback riding and polo keep many stars occupied when they are off the sets.

Sports Claim Followers

Almost every branch of sport and game has its followers in Hollywood. A few celebrities own airplanes and flying is their hobby. Backgammon is popular, but not as much as bridge.

Most stars hesitate to talk about their charities, but many are giving much time and money to benefit others less fortunate.

Will Rogers, for instance, gave $12,500 to the Los Angeles Community chest a short time before he began an airplane tour of the southwest in the interests of the Arkansas drought sufferers. Mary Pickford was the first president of the motion picture relief fund, to which all film workers contribute. Marie Dressler for years has been interested in the Chorus Girls Equity Association.

Richard Arlen and Jobyna Ralston spend almost all their time in their home on the edge of Toluca lake. Arlen is an ardent outdoor sport fan and his wife frequently joins him.

Ruth Chatterton, Louise Fazenda, George Bancroft, Clive Brook, Anita Page and Maurice Chevalier are included in the swimming crowd.

Golf is the favorite sport of Robert Montgomery, Joan Crawford, Jean Harlow, Ernest Torrence and Buddy Rogers.

A BIG DISCUSSION
IT WILL BE TWINS
HE CAME AND JUMPED
KEMAL WINS, ALLAH LOSES
—By Arthur Brisbane—
(Copyright 1930 By King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

The big discussion of the moment concerns relief of Americans in need and how to go about it, if at all. There seems to be more hesitation about relieving Americans, by the way, than there was about relieving Armenians and other foreigners in a war that we did not start. We did start this depression war.

Senator Borah in a savagely magnificent speech that might make him president some day if he is not careful, tells of a mother and her children eating "grease and sour meal that you would not give to a dog."

Not only would Borah have an extra session if necessary, but, says he: "Let us stay here until every starving child and woman has been taken care of by the government, whose duty it is to take care of its suffering citizens."

The fight is on between Borah and President Hoover and their respective adherents.

Yesterday the president issued a statement saying that the government should not do anything until charity, meaning the Red Cross, has failed.

The people should rely on mutual self help, says President Hoover, quoting the words of Grover Cleveland under similar circumstances, "It is for the people to support the government, the government should not support the people."

Senator Borah might and probably will reply, "that was not said to the hungry Armenians, or Russians, or the European nations that needed ten thousand millions of our money to continue murdering each other."

Senator Borah says the Red Cross is not strong enough to carry through the job. The government could certainly do it more cheaply and efficiently by employing men of the army and navy, as might be shown by printing the payroll of the Red Cross for the last year or so, showing how much of the money spent reached starving individuals, and not starving stomachs.

If congress means to do anything for those in want and should hand the money directly to them, regardless of that terrible word "dose," the money would be spent in stores, would help pay clerks' wages, and start business going.

However, that is for the wise man at Washington to decide.

DAMAGE SURVEY IN TWO CITIES SHOWS 400 DEAD

Napier Reduced To Shambles; Hastings Is In Ruins

FAMILIES, IN RUGS, SLEEP ON SEASHORE

Roof Of Technical School Drops, Killing Teachers, Students

(By Associated Press)
WELLINGTON, N. Z., Feb. 4.—Preliminary estimates of the death toll at Napier and Hastings jumped to 400 today when surveys of the damage caused by yesterday's earthquake and fire had only begun.

Eye witnesses reported it was impossible to give any accurate figure at present, but agreed there were at least 300 dead in Napier and 100 in Hastings. The number of injured at Napier and Hastings was estimated at upward of 1,000.

Fears prompted by scattered reports from the stricken area were more than realized in information collected from refugees arriving here today.

Napier a Shambles
Survivors said the quake wrecked nearly all the stone buildings in Napier and that the fire, fanned by a breeze coming in from the sea, swept inland, destroying everything in its path.

Napier was a shambles. Among the outstanding tragedies were the collapse of the roof of the technical school. The crumbling of the nurses home and the fall of the delicate ward of the hospital. Students and teachers were killed.

Nurses Show Heroism
The nurses' home was destroyed while the night staff was still asleep. Some escaped but the bodies of others lie underneath the wreckage. The nurses showed great heroism, rushing into the rocking building to rescue patients.

Streets in Hastings were choked

NO FEDERAL AID. COUNTY IS TOLD

Farmers In Southern Ohio Drought Districts Will Benefit

The federal loan fund which was recently made available for farmers in the drought areas will not apply to Columbiana county and other counties of this section, according to a communication just received from the federal department of agriculture by County Agent Floyd Lower.

It does apply, however, to 29 counties in southern Ohio where the drought situation is more serious, and to other states to the south and west.

The communication stated that the department of agriculture felt that it was necessary to restrict the counties which should receive loans to those which have suffered most from the effects of the drought and in which there would be a rather large demand for loans.

Harter, Jr., in two cases coming before him on error proceedings from municipal court.

In the cases involved, John Ingram and May Harlan were found guilty and sentenced to pay fines for possession of liquor. It developed at the trials that liquor was found in the possession of each in his private dwelling, but there was no evidence of sale.

HOOVER SHUNS COMPROMISE IN RELIEF DISPUTE

Watson And McNary Leave White House Empty-Handed

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—Compromise negotiations on the congressional relief deadlock slowed up today after President Hoover gave a cool reception to proposals for settlement suggested by senate Republican leaders.

Revive Extra Session Fears
Fears of an extra session were revived at the Capitol as Senators Watson of Indiana, and McNary of Oregon, the Republican chiefs, returned from the White House empty-handed.

Neither Watson nor McNary would discuss the talk after the White House breakfast party.

They went to the president with the compromise suggested to the senate yesterday by Senator Harrison, Democrat, Mississippi, on the $25,000,000 Red Cross relief fund, which Mr. Hoover and the house Republicans have refused to accept.

Propose Federal Fund
The Harrison proposal was that a federal fund be made available to be spent only in the event that charitable organizations found it impossible to administer relief.

The Mississippi put forward with the contention that the responsibility for the extra session would be upon the Republicans, if the stand against any compromise was insisted upon.

Despite the gloom of Senators Watson and McNary as they left the White House, however, there were still signs of a break in the tense situation.

EPIDEMIC TEST SUIT OPENS IN COMMON PLEAS

City Defendant In Damage Action Filed By F. J. Harding

SENT BACK FROM SUPREME COURT

Testimony Was Originally Heard In Lisbon

Testimony today was opened in common pleas court, Lisbon, in the F. J. Harding damage suit, an action against the city of Salem as a result of the typhoid epidemic prevalent here in 1920.

It is one of a series of twenty suits in which damages aggregating approximately $100,000 are asked.

Harding action, heard as a "test" case, was opened in the county court at Lisbon in June, 1927, the city being awarded the verdict. Taken to the court of appeals this decision was reversed following which the city took the case to the Ohio supreme court in Columbus from where it was remanded to common pleas court.

Harding claims damages are due him from the city as a result of illness of his daughters Carrie and Ethel due to the epidemic. He is represented by attorneys Curtis M. Shetter of Canton and H. C. Hart of Youngstown.

The city is represented by a staff of attorneys composed of Solicitor Cecil K. Scott, L. P. Metzger, J. H. Sharr, K. L. Coburn, all of Salem, and former Judge W. B. B. of Youngstown.

Printed testimony taken at the first trial four years ago has been presented in the case. The attorneys today predicted that the case will be disposed of by Saturday.

Sessions are in progress in courtroom No. 2, presided over by Judge J. C. Oglevie of Carroll county.

CHARLES SEARS NEW DRY CHIEF

Chillicothe Man Appointed In Place Of L. L. Faris, Banker

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, Feb. 4.—Charles H. Sears, of Chillicothe, was appointed state prohibition commissioner by Gov. White today in place of L. L. Faris, Lynchburg banker, who declined the appointment.

Sears has been an active Democrat in Ross county. He was a candidate for county recorder at the November election but was nosed out.

Filling the prohibition commissioner's office was the governor's task in the way of major appointments. The appointee's name was to be presented to the state senate for confirmation this afternoon.

Faris refused the directorship in a letter to the governor last Saturday. The chief executive was about to ask the senate to confirm him more than a week ago when charges were made that he had been asked to resign as secretary of the state civil service commission under former Gov. Cox.

The contract for clearing away the debris was given to the firm of W. S. Scott & Son, contractors. Work will probably begin today. All of the walls except those at the front of the building caved in. The front wall presents a hazard to pedestrians and vehicles passing it, and will be removed as soon as possible.

500 MEN WILL BE PUT TO WORK IN RELIEF PROGRAM

Employment Schedule To Be Effective In 24 Counties

HIGHWAY DIRECTOR TO PROVIDE FUNDS

Needy Workers Will Be Enrolled By Local Committees

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 4.—Employment of 500 men in 24 drought stricken counties of Ohio is expected within the next 48 hours as a result of the orders issued today by Governor George White's special committee on drought and unemployment relief.

Adjutant General Frank D. Henderson announced that each of the 24 counties are to place not less than 20 additional men on the maintenance and repair work of the state highways immediately, without consideration of color, creed or politics.

Will Enroll Unemployed
The local committee of each county composed of the probate judge, superintendent of schools, county health officer, a representative of the Red Cross and of the American Legion and a representative of the state health department to be selected by the other five members, is to enroll the unemployed and submit their names to the superintendent of maintenance in the county.

The funds have been made available by O. W. Merrill, state director of highways.

The initial plan in each county which the organization hopes to complete in a few weeks.

General Henderson said the committee plans to rotate the employment, giving the men work on alternate weeks so that a greater amount of relief will be extended.

Although all counties are included in the initial program General Henderson said others will be added soon.

Counties in which the additional highway employment is provided included Adams, Athens, Belmont, Brown, Clinton, Clermont, Guernsey, Gallia, Hocking, Highland, Jackson, Lawrence, Monroe, Muskingum, Morgan, Meigs, Noble, Perry, Pike, Ross, Scioto, Vinton, Washington and Jefferson.

Cooperates With Red Cross
General Henderson said the state committee has been acting in cooperation with the American Red Cross in extending relief to a number of counties of the state where lack of employment, and drought suffering has worked considerable hardship on the residents.

He said that Fred G. Spaulding, representative of the Red Cross, has been asked to immediately prepare for operation of the Red Cross in Uhrichville, where much suffering was reported in a survey of the state health department.

Social Triumph

ARDMORE, OKLA., Feb. 4.—From all the pictures in the papers of these admirals that are to be at the Smedley Butler trial in full dress, why is not a legal procedure, it's a social triumph.

When you see an admiral going along the street with those wide, gold-braided tassels springboards on his shoulders, why we don't know if he is going to a wedding or a hanging.

Poor old Smedley. He just seems to have a mania for getting in bad in peace times. But you let a war start and there don't seem to be any kick about what he does. Yours, Will Rogers

READY FOR EMERGENCIES

Half of North Island in the New Zealand group has been terrorized by an earthquake, which took heavy toll of life and destroyed thousands of buildings. The inhabitants, although accustomed to earthquakes, are reported stunned by the suddenness and scope of the disaster. The city of Napier is affected most seriously.

In the description of the situation, one can find many indications of man's increasing ability to cope with disaster. Shortly after the quake, special detachments of fire fighters flew over Napier in airplanes dropping dynamite into standing buildings to prevent the spread of fire. Temporary dressing stations were set up at many points and medical supplies and aid were rushed to the scene by special trains. Portable radio sets were put into use to obtain news from isolated places, replacing telephone and telegraph lines destroyed by the quake. Fire-fighting equipment designed to draw water from the sea was in general use.

Through the personnel and equipment of British ships stationed off shore, order was being maintained and relief administered. Despite the severity of the disaster it is reported that local officials had the situation under control.

There is more than a slight amount of comfort in the realization of the efficiency with which the world in 1931 is prepared to meet emergencies. In 1831 it would have been days before the world even would have known that anything was wrong on North Island.

WILLING BUT PUZZLED

The discord between the plea from drought-stricken states for food and the acrimonious quarrel in congress concerning the source of the funds to be used in buying it is disheartening. America is willing to help, but the people who make its wishes articulate are torn by dissension. Shall money be taken from the federal treasury or from the hands of the people whose hearts have been touched by the appeal of the hungry?

A referendum undoubtedly would reveal a huge majority in favor of leaving relief work in the hands of the Red Cross and the other established agencies now doing it. Yet, many representatives in congress who pride themselves on their ability to read the signs and get reflected apparently are blind to popular feeling.

Democrats in the senate, for instance, threaten to throttle the nation by refusing to pass the appropriation bills unless their minority opinion is allowed to prevail. Senator William E. Borah has announced that he will block all further appropriation unless the administration-controlled house yields and consents to a federal appropriation. Senators Caraway and Robinson also have pledged themselves to policies of obduracy, unless their ideas are accepted.

It can only be said that these men mean well—no more. By any standard, and even if they can get such a stranglehold as to win, they are making a blunder. Their slighting comments on the President, who believes with the people that the Red Cross is too valuable to be paralyzed by accepting treasury funds for domestic relief, reflect discredit only on themselves. By standing out against them for a sound policy, Mr. Hoover increases the number of his friends. No one but the basest politician would accuse a man with his record of being cold-hearted in his treatment of the current demands for relief. He is pledged to see that no American shall starve or freeze, if it can be helped, but he also is pledged to keep the treasury solvent, if possible. If defeated, he will gain strength.

It is said that the representatives of the people have strayed so far away from the wishes of their constituents, and it is disconcerting to speculate that before they can be brought back a great deal of harm may be done. America is always willing to help but the muddle-mindedness of some of its legislators can believe its good intentions.

What Others Say

A FOOLISH PROPOSAL

A group of Democrats and western radical Republicans in the house of representatives in Washington is agitating for a "liberalization" of the rules so as to permit a committee to be discharged from consideration of a bill by petition of 100 members. The existing rule requires a majority vote.

Congressman Robert Luce, a recognized authority on parliamentary practice, states that this change would have the practical effect of increasing the power of the minority to hamper and even thwart the majority. That was the sort of thing from which Speaker Reed rescued the house exactly 41 years ago—Jan. 29, 1890—when he ordered the clerk to record the names of members present and refusing to vote, a form of obstruction common at that time. The adoption of the "reform" that is now proposed would be a reactionary blow at majority rule in the house of congress.

Among the parliamentary factors that have worked to bring the senate into its present disrepute is the relative impotency of a majority to overcome the obstruction presented by determined and aggressive minorities ought not to be overlooked. The effects that might be expected to follow from the adoption of the proposed rule respecting the discharge of committees would similarly tend to lessen the esteem in which the house of congress is held.

There is no partisan advantage to be gained from it, as the rule would work as perniciously against a Democratic majority as against a Republican majority; and for that reason it will be surprising if there are found to be enough members of the house who are sufficiently careless of its reputation for conducting its business in a businesslike way to pass any such parliamentary anachronism—Detroit Free Press.

HEALTH

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland

St. Vitus's Dance

"Chorea" or "Saint Vitus's Dance" as it is commonly called, is a disease of the nervous system.

It occurs in early school life, usually among girls between five and 15 years of age.

The exact cause of this disease is not known. It is usually associated with acute rheumatic fever and heart disease. Over-pressure in school work is often an important factor.

Anemia in children because most of the cases show very distinct blood changes. Chorea may follow as a complication of any of the infectious diseases. This is particularly true of scarlet fever and typhoid fever.

The disease comes on slowly. Quite often the child is accused merely of being "nervous". If at school it is noticed that he is having difficulty in writing or drawing. At home, the child is continually dropping things, has difficulty in feeding and dressing himself. At times the feet fail, and there's stumbling, with frequent falls and difficulty in climbing stairs. In other cases the spasm is in the face. Unconsciously, he makes grimaces, for which the poor child may be punished.

When the disease is fully developed the movements characteristic of this ailment are unmistakable. There are irregular and jerky motions, varying from an occasional muscular twitching to almost constant agitation.

Excitement, fatigue and embarrassment, or any effort on the part of the child to control these movements, increases them. During sleep the movements disappear.

Unfortunately, these children are brought to the physician's attention weeks after the onset of the disease. Upon the first sign of suspicion of chorea the child should be taken to a doctor. If neglected the condition back of this disease may injure the heart.

Children with chorea should not be permitted to attend school. They should receive plenty of fresh air, nourishing foods and adequate rest. Such children should never be ridiculed or punished because of the movements they cannot help. They cannot control them, and as I have said, any effort on their part to do so increases the movements.

In severe cases the rest treatment is imperative. This means placing the child in bed, where complete mental and physical rest may be obtained. This, perhaps, may be best accomplished in a hospital.

This disease has a tendency to recur, particularly in the spring months. Children who have had one attack should be watched carefully, particularly after they have returned to school. They should not be forced to do too much school work, and should be given frequent vacations.

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—Writers, as well as actors, are often happy victims of the fabled lucky break. The other week an aspiring novice, after working five days completed seven pages of a magazine article and suddenly stuck smack in the middle of a sentence.

He tried vainly to carry on but could not crack the spell of sterility. Finally he snatched the page from the machine with a mental vow to quit the game forever. On the verge of tearing up the manuscript, he, instead, placed it in an envelope and mailed it to his literary agent.

With the article he sent what he intended to be his literary swan song. It was a despairing line: "The very best I could do!" In a few days he received an urgent message to call on his agent at once. He went determined to resist any plea to "try it just once more." He was definitely through.

The agent was in a furore of excitement. He had forwarded the article to a weekly magazine and the editor had phoned his enthusiasm. The agent explained the editor liked especially the brevity—"the abrupt ending. That unfinished sentence!" The writer set dazed.

And the agent gabbled on: "He wants you to write five more in the same tempo at once." There are many instances of such miracles. Anita Loos wrote "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes" to amuse herself during a tedious convalescence. It was carelessly tossed in an old desk.

One day she gave it to a friend to read afterward to tear up. Instead he rushed to an editor—and the world knows the astonishing result. Will Rogers was a good comedian; but the one thing he couldn't do was write. "I can't," he drawled, "even spell."

For such reasons no one should tell another he cannot write. Had many top notchers today heeded the advice of critics they would be punching time clocks in planning mills and spoke factories. Persistence wins in writing as well as in other endeavors.

London, too, is giving Hollywood a theatrical raspberry in a comedy called "Nippy." But Hollywood is used to jeers. The producers hooted as "ex-butt hole makers" lounge in the patios of million dollar castles and try to bear it. Dear, dear!

A threadbare gesture on the stage these days is for a performer suddenly to resort to something grotesque like a tough aside when things become too pretentious. In one of the revues a plumed lady in a grand stairway entrance moves majestically to the bottom step, hoists her skirt, suddenly spits through her teeth and waddles off with a Chaplin walk and an Eddie Foy grin. Its grand.

On a West 58th street studio is a sign: "Crowning in Six Lessons." Somehow we never imagined it required such effort. We thought all you needed were rusty pipes and a megaphone.

An odd remunerative sideline is carried on by a young haberdashery clerk. He can tie a black or white bow tie for evening with a flair few achieve. Rich bachelors prefer him to valets, send for him in their cars on auspicious occasions and he arranges their ties for $2 a visit.

An expertly meticulous dandy, varnished with the spurious look of clothing dummy contentment, sat in front of me at the theater the other night, looking neither right nor left. As the curtain fell he whispered to the lady with him and she gave him something out of her opera bag. On the way out he adjusted a pair of knitted wrist warmers—and in my affections immediately became a full blooded Knight of Pythias or something.

From the London Bystander: "McIntyre sniffs the winds of life with dilated nostrils." Sounds doggy!

A moment-ago caller was a gentleman whose calling card announced him as Orp Orphen. He is a book agent and got in slickly by declaring he had been sent by a publisher. His visit was no annoyance whatever, but I wish he hadn't come. I can't quit yapping his name.

STATE IS FAR BELOW NORMAL IN SNOW, RAIN

Winter One Of Driest And Warmest On Record, Say Observers

(By International News Service) WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—The country is passing through one of the driest and warmest winter seasons on record, according to officials of the United States weather bureau.

Ohio has been 46 per cent below normal in precipitation for the last three months, being the lowest on record for any three months in the history of the state.

There has been no snow to compare with the "old-fashioned winter" and the amount of rainfall has been correspondingly scanty.

Over the area hard hit by last summer's drought, there have been a particularly lack of moisture during the winter months. December was the driest December on record in the entire country.

The weather bureau's records show that West Virginia's precipitation for the last three months is 10 per cent lower than that for Ohio, being 56 per cent below normal.

Other states far below normal in their precipitation are Kentucky, 52 per cent below; Pennsylvania, 52 per cent; Indiana, 53 per cent; Maryland, 54 per cent; New York, 61 per cent, and Michigan, 62 per cent.

Girl in Gun Battle

Nancy Reno, 19, black-haired, bright eyed and beautiful, was cullen when Detective Charles Dorfman questioned her, as shown above, about the 100-shot duel she and her companion waged with police as they pursued her car through New York City streets. Three male companions, alleged members of her bandit gang, also were captured when their taxi crashed into a lamp post.

Four Republicans, Two Democrats To Consider Proposed Plan

(By Associated Press) COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 4.—A subcommittee of four Republicans and two Democrats, selected last night by the Ohio senate elections committee, for the purpose of inquiring into the matter of redistricting the state into 24, instead of 22, congressional districts in accordance with the 1930 census.

C. J. Anderson, Chairman

The subcommittee was directed to inquire into the matter and submit a bill to carry out the redistricting plan. C. J. Anderson (R) of Richland county was chosen chairman.

Other members named were Lawrence H. Norton, Cleveland; Frank E. Whittemore, Akron; and Milton J. Scott, Chillicothe, Republicans, and William A. Greenlund, Cleveland, and T. E. Williams, Celina, Democrats.

The senate elections committee at the same time decided that the bill of Senator Joseph N. Ackerman, (D) Cleveland, making it a violation of the corrupt practices act to submit questionnaires to candidates for public office was too severe and amended it to permit sending questionnaires to determine the candidates' views on a matter but making any demand for a pledge from the office seeker a violation of the law.

School Dispute Aired

The Scioto county school board controversy was brought to the attention of the senate by Senator John A. Lloyd (R), of Portsmouth, whose bill to require any county boards of education to give public notice to all concerned on a contemplated redistricting of the county, was approved unanimously and sent to the house.

The senate joint resolution of taxation submitted originally by Senator James A. Reynolds (R) of Cleveland, but so amended by the Republican majority in the senate and passed by them that the author voted against it, was sent to the house without debate. The resolution, as amended by the senate Republicans, would provide equal representation of the governor on a committee of nine to draft proposed tax legislation.

The house committee on benevolent and penal institutions recommended passage of the bill of Hugh A. Addison (D) of Columbus, which would provide an eight-hour a day schedule in state penal institutions guard forces and setting the wage scale.

Jump In Telephone Rates Is Protested

ALLIANCE, Feb. 4.—Announcement of a 25 per cent increase in telephone rates on phones used by the Alliance public school system has brought a volley of protests from members of the board of education.

Members of the board went on record as protesting the increased rate charged by the Ohio Bell Telephone Co., and instructed Herbert W. Woolf, clerk of the board of education and business manager of the public school system, to send communications to the telephone company and the state public utilities commission in which the board's disapproval was expressed.

The increase in rates would mean between $300 and $400 a year additional expense to operate telephones in the school buildings.

Seeing Is Living Says Tarkington

(By United Press) BALTIMORE, MD., Feb. 4.—Booth Tarkington sat in the Johns Hopkins hospital and told how it feels to know he will be able to see again after he was certain he had lost his sight.

"The most important thing I can tell you," Tarkington said to reporters who clustered around his chair, "is that I will be able to see again."

"Beginning last August my sight started to fail and it kept getting worse until my recent operation. For several weeks I could not see at all, but now it is a certainty that I will see."

"I don't believe anyone knows what a thrill it is to be able to see color and form, even though things present a smudged picture yet. It makes all the difference in the world. Seeing is really living."

Asked if he intended to resume writing at once, the author of "Penrod" said "through dictation I'll be able to continue to write."

Resists Police, Man Is Wounded

(By International News Service) CLEVELAND, Feb. 4.—Resisting the attempts of police to arrest him, a man identified as Granville Williams was shot and critically wounded on Cleveland's east side today.

Williams was taken to Charity hospital with two bullet wounds in his stomach. Hospital attaches held little hope for his recovery.

Ordered by Sergeant Otto Diskowski to throw up his hands when the policeman attempted to arrest him on a suspicious person charge, Williams drew a pistol. Diskowski fired once and Detective Stephen Andras fired twice. Police said the man has a criminal record.

WELL-KNOWN MAN PRAISES DIAPEPSIN FOR STOMACH ILLS

"My work as a commercial photographer keeps me on a strain," says J. Walter Ingraham, 1001 21st St., Des Moines, Iowa.

"So my digestion suffered. I got so I would have severe headaches and a heavy feeling in my stomach after meals. I had gas on the stomach; would belch often, leaving a sour, hot taste in my mouth. Few things agreed with me."

"A friend got me to take some Pape's Diapepsin. I had immediate relief from the first few tablets, so I kept on with it. Now I feel fine; eat anything I want without bad after-effects. I intend to keep on with Pape's Diapepsin until I am sure my trouble won't come back. The tablets are pleasant to chew and sure get results quickly."

Pape's Diapepsin is the best thing yet discovered to end digestive worries, give tone to a disordered stomach, increase appetite, make digestion vigorous and complete. Its success in so many cases where everything else has failed, proves that.

All drugstores sell these harmless, pleasant tablets. If you prefer to try them before buying, a letter to Pape's Diapepsin, Wheeling, W. Va., will bring a sample box, FREE.

Blue-Bloods and Alley Cats Rival Fabled Puss-in-Boots for Fame

BROADCASTING TO AUSTRALIA

NEW YORK—The expression "One half doesn't know how the other half lives" is not restricted to humankind. Recent news stories make it apparent that the trite quotation is equally applicable to the feline kingdom and might be paraphrased, "One cat—etc."

ARISTOCRAT FELINE

Take Mitzi for example. Mitzi is a resident of San Gabriel, California. She is now 18 years old, a Persian of aristocratic lineage. When Mitzi came into the world she had the traditional silver spoon in her mouth. She became an important member of the household of Mrs. Maude Ide, of San Gabriel, with a boudoir all her own and every luxury that a born-to-the-purple feline has a right to expect.

Today Mitzi's purr is more contented than ever. Fortune has been more than kind. Mitzi's mistress died some time ago and when the will was read it was found that Mrs. Ide had left her beautiful San Gabriel home to her beloved mousehound. Not only that, but the will decreed that a trust fund be established, of $15,000, to provide for Mitzi as long as she lives.

Another cat won wide publicity recently when Mrs. Lena Koller, and Mrs. Anna Roettger went to the courts to settle the disputed ownership of an Angora blue-blood. Mrs. Koller is sure that the aristocratic puss is her "Doty" and Mrs. Roettger is equally insistent that the cat's name is "Pet" and belongs to her. The claimants have finally agreed to let a parental blood-test decide the question.

MAKING HISTORY

Kilowatt is another of the species that has acquired a large measure of fame. Kilowatt's home is at radio station WGY, Schenectady, New York. Some time ago he was wandering around his domain, speculating as to the reason why his maternal saucer of milk was so long in coming. Getting more and more impatient, Kilowatt jumped upon a table and gave vent to a long, plaintive "Meow."

It happened that close at hand was a microphone in readiness to establish a new system of radio communication with Sydney, Australia, and Commander Kingsford-Smith, the famous aviator, was to hold the first conversation from Sydney with friends in this country. Kilowatt's meow, however, was the first broadcast over the new system and will doubtless go down to posterity as the meow that was heard around the world. A different story is that of a nameless alley cat, whom we'll call Gabriel home to her beloved mouse-Maggie had no illustrious forebears. She was just a nondescript, back fence warbler. But she rose to heights that topped Olympus.

When the Chrysler building was nearing completion one of the army of elevator men was surprised one evening to see a dirty gray cat make an attempt to enter his elevator. He shoed it away. But Maggie—yes, it was our heroine—was not to be balked by a mere elevator man. She wanted to go up in the world and up she would go, by hook or crook. Unfortunately the method whereby she realized her ambition is unknown. But next morning when the workmen went to resume operations at the top of the building they found seven baby cats being cared for by a dirty but proud mother. Somehow Maggie had negotiated the 71 stories from the street and brought her family into the world away up in the clouds.

Maggie's kittens have all been adopted and are in comfortable homes. Maggie? Oh, she vanished as mysteriously as she came. She had her hour in the limelight and—who can tell?—she may be happy with her memory.

Towanda, Pa.—"I was working in a silk mill and got so tired and rundown that I weighed only 80 pounds. I was not well enough to do my work. As soon as I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, I began to pick up. After being married for thirteen years, I had another baby and the next year I had another baby who now weighs 37 pounds and is healthy as a bear. IT BABY HAS COLIC

COLIC comes suddenly. Your first intimation that something is wrong may be a warning cry in the night. If you have a bottle of Castoria handy you needn't worry, for a little of this pure vegetable remedy will soon have baby's happy self again; let him go back to sleep.

Castoria is always the sensible thing to give an ailing child. When a child is restless, fretful, with coated tongue, bad breath and lack of appetite, it is a mother's standby. Most mothers give Castoria an important place in their homes. Ready for sour stomach, constipation, or upset. When buying Fletcher's Castoria always look for Chas. H. Fletcher's signature on the wrapper. This identifies the genuine product.

WHEN MONEY'S SCARCE GRIN AND BUDGET

And when money's plentiful, do the same. For a house without a budget is like a ship without a compass or a horse without reins. It runs away with itself.

So budget with the help of your neighborhood A&P where you can be sure of getting real co-operation in the shape of good food at consistently low prices. For A&P stores transact business on such a large scale that they can afford to sell at a little more than cost.

Furthermore, they don't let you get into debt as far as they're concerned, for they sell only for cash—another reason their prices are always so moderate.

So keep your house in order by planning efficiently and spending a little time and money at the nearest A&P. That's the way to make both ends meet when money's scarce. And it's the intelligent way to run a household even when money is plentiful.

OLD GOLD SPILLS THE BEANS IN BOSTON

Upsets rival brands with Sweeping Victory, in Ripley's latest Taste-Test

They held another "tea-party" at Boston the other day. "Down with the tyranny of habit!" was the cry. "Let's find out which cigarette really tastes the best."

From Back-Bay to the Fishing Docks, it was another Boston rebellion. Throwing brand prejudice overboard . . . more than a thousand Boston smokers compared the four leading cigarettes, with the brand names hidden.

They didn't know which was which. All they wanted was to pick out the best tasting cigarette.

At Lexington . . . modern Minute Men needed hardly a minute to give O. G. a 2 to 1 victory. At Bunker Hill, OLD GOLD's cool, throat-easy quality completely routed the enemy.

"No taxation without representation!" . . . said the Boston of long ago. "No throat-tax . . . and unlimited smoking joy!" says the Boston of today.

STATE AND RED CROSS TO HELP DROUGHT AREAS

Trucks and Tanks To Be Used For Hauling Water

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 4.—The state and the Red Cross are moving to alleviate conditions in the drought area of southeastern Ohio where water supplies have been depleted and considerable suffering reported.

Under the direction of the state relief committee named by Governor White, Highway Director O. W. Merrell announced that state highway trucks and tanks should be utilized for hauling water to municipalities where shortages are reported. Merrell also announced plans of the department for putting down new wells.

Cities, Towns Are Hit
Adjutant General Frank D. Henderson disclosed that several cities and towns are in bad condition from water shortage.

Among the towns reported were Barnesville—water supply almost exhausted; New Concord—regular supply used up and damming ditches to obtain additional supplies. About two weeks water left in the ditches; Woodsfield—from two to three weeks of water available; Wellsburg—regular water supply system and reservoirs abandoned and water now being pumped from the Ohio river; its taste is not satisfactory; Caldwell and Corning, regular supply used up and now using from creeks.

Director Merrell said the highway department will be able to provide employment to many persons within a short time on the maintenance and repair and new construction of state highways.

Director John McSweeney of Welfare announced that the state institutions under construction and any maintenance and repairs necessary so that employment could be provided for those out of work.

Plan County Committees
The governor's committee decided that each county should provide a local committee composed of the probate judge, county health officer, superintendent of schools, a representative of the Red Cross and a representative of the American Legion. This committee would cooperate with the state organization.

The committee also approved the bill of State Senator J. G. Lowery (R) of New Concord, which would set aside $50,000 to be expended for the purchase of shoes, clothing and medical attention for all school children in the drought and unemployment areas where parents were unable to provide for the children.

"Seven! Come Eleven!" Goes High Hat

PALM BEACH, Fla.—Under any name, it is the fad of the hour. Everybody is doing it, with more or less skill. The Scots call it "tables"; the ancient Romans, "scripta duodecim"; the Persians, "nard"; the Egyptians, "taxila"; the English, "shauver"; the first of the English poets, "Indus anglicum"; but they all mean "backgammon."

Society—which means that portion of the community whose leadership in sociable customs is worth following—has enthusiastically taken up the game. A bandit who intruded on the privacy of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Brokaw, wealthy New Yorkers, found them immersed in backgammon, they admitted.

That event probably gave the game more publicity and impetus than any single event in its modern history. Although about a thousand social registerites gathered in the Hotel Astor to play backgammon for a charity recently, the event got less space than the lone bandit's intrusion on the Brokaws' game.

In spite of the fact that the fad is fairly new, the social leaders already are practicing innovations on the game. At a recent house party here, the hostess, Mrs. Charles M. Hall, of Chicago, organized a game outdoors in which the pieces were human beings instead of checkers, and huge dice were cast to determine the play.

The popularity of the game probably is due to the need for but two players for a contest and the use of dice in the play—the same dice that have made "seven" and "eleven" famous—according to Harold Thorne, one of the nation's authorities on the game, who has devised six new moves. Dice, he points out, were the first gambling device used by human beings.

"The origin of backgammon isn't clear," Thorne declared. "But it was a favorite pastime with the ancients as far back as written history goes. It's a curious thing the way the game has taken on different characters in different ages and different times."

Sometimes, as in France of the Middle Ages, backgammon was a medium for wild and spectacular gambling. In England, on the other hand, it has long been a quiet pastime for rainy days, dignified, sedate.

Humane Agencies To Fight Cruelty

Plans for a county-wide campaign against cruelty to animals, with Columbiana county humane agencies cooperating, were announced today by C. E. Donahay, county dog warden.

Efforts to combat cruelty to animals will be made by the various organizations, Donahay said, with arrests resulting in all cases where cruelty is reported.

Donahay announced that a reward of $5 cash will be given to anyone offering information leading to the identity of the person or persons who abandoned six two-month-old puppies near the Vetaw school on the Hanoverton-Salem road, Sunday afternoon.

The dogs, the warden explained, were placed near the school, left to die, being discovered by a small boy who took them home following which they were placed in Donahay's care.

Solicitor Files Pay Refund Suit

(By Brush-Moore Leased Wire)
EAST LIVERPOOL, O., Feb. 4.—City Solicitor W. S. Stevenson today filed suit in municipal court against City Auditor W. M. McGraw, seeking a refund of $600, with $57.25 interest, alleged to have been illegally collected under a salary increase ordinance adopted by council on January 9, 1928.

Stevenson charges that the Ohio general code prohibits "increasing or diminishing" the salary of a public official during his term of office.

McGraw, now serving his fifth term, said he did not qualify for the term in question until January 15, 1928, but Stevenson's petition sets forth that the auditor was elected November 8, 1927, for a two-year term beginning January 1, 1928.

MOVIES

"THE MAN WHO CAME BACK"

Charles Farrell and Janet Gaynor are reunited again in "The Man Who Came Back" which tells the story of young Stephen Randolph played by Farrell, who, enervated by too much wealth, sinks to the very gutter, only to be redeemed by the devotion of his sweet heart, Angie, enacted by Miss Gaynor. How the love of these two down and outers gives them strength to drag themselves from the mire, and climb upward into the sunlight, makes one of the most powerful stories ever brought to the Movietone screen.

The settings for the picture are unusually colorful, in that the story moves from New York to San Francisco, thence to Shanghai, to Hawaii, and back to New York.

It is a vehicle particularly suited to the talents of both Miss Gaynor and Farrell, a romantic drama that carries them through the gamut of human experience, from the nightmare of degradation to the rosy dreams of happiness.

Through the very power of their personalities, they carry us with them in imagination, throughout the series of difficulties which at times seem insurmountable.

"QUEEN HIGH"

At The Grand

Charlie Ruggles, the veteran comedian of stage and screen, is a butler again.

Several years ago Ruggles played the comedy lead in "Battling Butler," one of the big musical hits of his season. Now the same laughmaking Ruggles is the business man who turns butler against his will in the hilarious Schwab and Mandel production, "Queen High," now playing at the Grand.

Ruggles has provided comedy in a number of recent talking successes—"Gentlemen of the Press," "The Lady Lies," "Roadhouse Nights," and "Young Man of Manhattan." He was a member of the cast of the original Broadway production of Schwab and Mandel's "Queen High."

Ruggles and Frank Morgan, two Broadway veterans of funmaking, head the comedy support. Stanley Smith and Ginger Rogers, are the romantic leads in this amusing tale of big business and monkey business.

Vinol supplies the body important mineral elements of iron, calcium with cod liver peptone. This is just what thin, nervous children or adults need, and the QUICK results are surprising. GROVE ELECTRICS DEFEAT GOLDEN EAGLE, 39-27, IN LEAGUE TILT

THE DAY In Sports

While his basketball players were locked in a death struggle with examinations last week, Ray Detrick, whose teams leading the Buckeye Athletic association, dropped into the office and imparted the information that "off nights" which sometimes come along to ruin a fast traveling basketball team's chances don't just happen. There's a reason, says Detrick.

"A team that is following training rules carefully and is in good condition does not have off nights."

Detrick admits, of course, that a team may get out of condition as a result of going stale and carefully avoids this by sending his team through no scrimmage during the week and having as little practice as possible.

Detrick fears co-eds more than he fears all the other teams in the Buckeye association. Too much social life, he believes to be the worst possible thing for his players. "The boy who has frequent dates inevitably keeps irregular hours, eats between meals and goes in for confectionery and soda water is getting his team in shape for a first class off night," says the Wesleyan mentor.

Clubs in the Canton golf district will engage in a series of combats during the 1931 campaign under a schedule endorsed by the Stark county organization. The majority of the clubs of the organization will be represented. Two rounds of matches will be staged, starting about the middle of June and continuing through the early part of September.

Basketball teams from the Tri-State district will gather at Youngstown on March 12, 13 and 14 for the Penn-Ohio tournament.

This tournament will be patterned after similar affairs which have been held successfully in East Liverpool and Sebring, but will go a step farther in including a separate division for girls' teams. Nearly a score of girls' teams, playing under boys' rules are expected to compete.

John Carroll university of Cleveland has re-opened negotiations with 10 prominent colleges in an effort to fill the November 14 football date left open when the game with the U. S. Marines was shifted to Thanksgiving.

Schools approached by Carroll are Detroit, Fordham, Georgetown, Loyola, St. Louis, Centenary, W. & J., Michigan State, West Virginia and Drake.

The tail-end of the Wittenberg basketball season is far from being the fog end.

Frequently the second half of a court schedule means meeting teams that have been encountered before, but not so for Wittenberg.

February presents seven games for the Comptonmen and of this number only two have been met earlier this season—Dayton and Heidelberg. One new foe has already been met this month, Wittenberg playing Xavier Tuesday night.

The remainder of the month's games, February 6 Marshall there; February 10 Xavier at Springfield; February 13 Detroit at Springfield; February 17 Heidelberg at Tiffin; February 25 W. & J. at Springfield and February 27 Dayton at Springfield.

Class A Teams Battle To Close Decision In Sensational Contests

A strengthened Grove Electric company basketball team handed the Golden Eagle cagers, city champions, their first defeat in Salem Class A competition this season, rolling up a 39-27 score in a hard-fought battle at the Memorial building gymnasium Tuesday night.

The Electric outclassed the champions throughout the contest and after holding a three-point lead at the end of the first half, flashed a great offensive drive that annihilated the champions in the third and fourth periods.

Tied At Quarter

The winners stepped ahead early in the first quarter but the Golden Eagle staged a slight comeback and with a flurry of three field goals tied the score at 11-all. Both teams concentrated on defensive play in the second quarter, the Golden Eagle being held to a lone field goal while the Grovemans connected for two baskets from action and a foul shot.

The third quarter found both trying plenty of shots at the hoop each registering five field goals while the Electric attained a two-point advantage by caging a pair of charity shots. The champions were helpless in the fourth quarter as the Grovemans continued their offensive attack, ending the contest holding a decisive 12-point margin.

SALEM BOWLERS TRIM LIVERPOOL

John Stiller, anchor-man on Salem's team, was the big noise in the victory. Stiller hit the wood for two scores in excess of 200 and a third for 183 to total 589. Manypenny led the visitors with 529.

Liverpool won the first game by 94 pins but dropped the second by 91. Salem took the third game by nine pins to take the match.

Unemployment To Have Little Effect On Baseball; Hundreds Given Jobs For 1931 Season

(By Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Feb. 4.—There will be no depression this year for the rookie hopefuls who seek bigger and better pay days in the ranks of the American league.

Help wanted signs dangling from every club office in the league, have attracted 130 applicants, all of them have been welcomed with open arms. Opportunity is everywhere for those able to deliver.

Although his team successfully captured the American league pennant for the second straight year and then added another world's championship, Connie Mack of the Philadelphia Athletics will take a dozen or more young pitchers to the White Elephants' training camp. He admits he needs better support for Bob Grove and George Earnshaw and opportunity will be plentiful.

Yanks in Distress

Pitchers are the crying need of Joe McCarthy and his New York Yankees too. Eight experienced hurlers will try out with the Yanks. Two young outfielders of great promise, Myril Hoag of Sacramento and Fred Walker of Jersey City, also will get a chance.

Detroit, seeking more punch at the bat, has grabbed off several fence busting outfielders.

Chicago and St. Louis needed infielders and went after them. The Browns picked up three young sensations from the Texas league, Burns, Storti and Levey of Wichita Falls, and two good minor league catcher prospects, The White Sox, experimenting with good looking youngsters, have a flock of young talent.

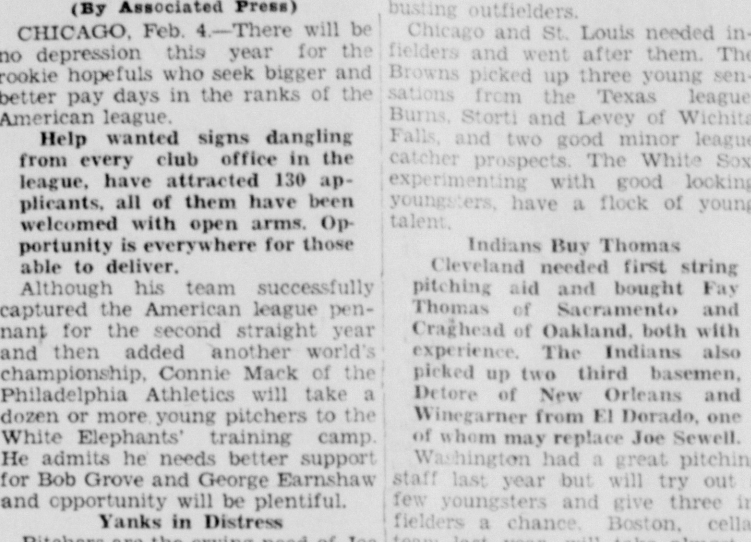

Indians Buy Thomas

Cleveland needed first string pitching aid and bought Fay Thomas of Sacramento and Craighead of Oakland, both with experience. The Indians also picked up two third basemen, Detore of New Orleans and Winegarner from El Dorado, one of whom may replace Joe Sewell.

Washington had a great pitching staff last year but will try out a few youngsters and give three infielders a chance. Boston, cellar team last year, will take almost a score of rookies to Pensacola. Three of them—Catcher Muddy Ruel, Pitcher Wilcy Moore and Pitcher Johnny Brillheart—can hardly be classed as rookies as they have been up before.

Of the 130 recruits, many have been up before but most of them are new to the majors.

Girl Track Champ Prepares for Meet

Miss Mary Ladewig, of Philadelphia, national field and track champ, is going to be ready to defend her laurels in the first of the indoor meets at the Melrose Athletic Club in New York. The charming member of the Meadowbrook teams is in intensive training.

Unbeaten Conference Teams To Clash; Salem Court Stars Will Play

Two of Ohio's most powerful collegiate basketball teams, Mount Union and Wooster, undefeated in their campaigns for championship laurels in the Ohio Conference league contest, clash in a fight for the supremacy of the Buckeye circuit at Memorial hall, Alliance, at 8 p. m. Thursday.

The game looms as one of the most important on the schedule of each of the two teams who are engaged in a desperate fight for conference titular honors. Both have an abundance of veteran basketball material, strong scoring offensives and formidable defenses, one of the year's hardest fought battles looming when they clash.

Interest High Here

Much interest is being displayed in the conflict in Salem, two local scholastic products, Robert Cope and Lowell Allen being members of the Mount Union Purple varsity while E. M. ("Mose") Hole, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Hole, Salem, is directing the destinies of the invading Wooster aggregation. Hole, a graduate of Lisbon High school, lived in Salem prior to going to Wooster and has had success in his coaching activities.

Cope will in all probability start at the center position for the Mountmen despite the fact that Lorin Lindamood, rangey Alliance High star of three seasons ago, is back in a suit after a month's lay-off because of injuries. Cope proved his right to a regular place in Mount's starting lineup with scintillating performances in practically every contest the team has played to-date.

Allen has not seen as much action as his colleague but is being groomed for a place with the varsity in future seasons. He will very likely break into the lineup against Wooster.

Both Undefeated

Wooster and Mount enter their clash with clean slates in their battle for conference laurels. In games already played Wooster has displayed a slightly stronger offense while Mount's contests have been featured by a sterling defense. So far Wooster has won seven conference victories, two over both Kent and Ashland and one each over Baldwin-Wallace, Kenyon and Case. Mount's 52-19 victory over Kent

Jewelry Business Contributes To Culture Of Home And City

Artistic Products On Display At Store Of Local Jewelry Expert

Artistic objects of all kinds greet the visitor to the jewelry store of Art the Jeweler at 462 East State street, where Art displays many things that contribute to the culture of the city and its home delights.

Silverware, fine china, cut glass, pewter sets, toilet sets, most attractive leather goods, including the famous Cardova leathers, fountain pens and a number of other attractive pieces add to the large stock of diamonds, precious stones, jewelry of all kinds, watches and clocks. The store is worth a visit at any time, and the stock does credit to the selective taste of the proprietor. Art is a watchmaker of experience, with the necessary machinery to do all classes of watch, clock and jewelry repairing; among the machines being a grinding lathe for shaping watch crystals for irregular watches, motors for polishing and other tools.

Established a year ago, the place has won the confidence of the Salem public by its strict attention to the needs of its customers and the superiority of the work done. Art's slogan is "The customer must be satisfied" and from the number of folks who have become permanent customers, it would seem that they are pleased with both the merchandise and the service that goes with it.

HORSE STILL IN POPULAR USE IN HANNAY WORK

Although we are living in a machine age, there are some types of work in which the horse still holds sway. The thinking person will agree that there must be some logical reason for this. It must be that the horse has been found more efficient, more economical, and capable of giving more satisfactory service by many who are engaged in trucking, draying, and team work.

This has been the experience of M. W. Hannay, 538 Columbia, who has been doing this kind of work here for years. The horses Mr. Hannay uses in his business are fine draft animals of the highest type and he is justly proud of them. In fact, Mr. Hannay is recognized as an authority on horses in this section of the country and folks who want draft horses of the better kind have learned to depend on him when making their purchases. During recent years the sale and trading of draft horses has become the most important phases of his business.

Farmers and haulers in this county have formed the habit of visiting M. W. Hannay whenever they are in Salem because they have found that he has some remarkably good buys in draft horses from time to time.

The latest "dope" on "horseflesh" can be had at any time by calling 1076.

MONK GARAGE POPULAR WITH AUTOISTS HERE

Business-Like Methods Of Workers Bring Many Good Results

Automobile service that is worth while is one of those things that every driver wants to find and that he cherishes with fondness when once he locates it. That might be the reason that the Monks Garage at 292 West State street is so popular.

Drivers find here men who know how to fix the car up, who go at it in a businesslike way, and who do the work with such system and thoroughness that the charges are low. There is a lot in knowing how—and it saves the motorist money in time charges.

This garage gives the motorists of Salem twenty-four hour service, and it is equipped to do what is to be done as it should be done. The wreck car is ready to go out when needed, a truck is equipped to make road repairs, and there is a snap and cheerfulness about the service that makes it a pleasure to do business with its employees.

It might be a good thing to paste a little line on your windshield that would read, "Call 103 for road service" and be ready for eventualities. A good garage—a really good one—is a very present help in time of trouble, and the Monks Garage has a fine reputation for being on the job.

Pennzoil Ethyl Gasoline Seen As Great Aid To Auto Industry

"Pennzoil Ethyl gasoline, a development of General Motors research laboratories, is automotive science's latest contribution to motorist satisfaction," according to H. J. Esley, branch manager of the Pennzoil company. "It turns the carbon that forms with each explosion in your cylinders into an agency of service—the increased pressure which carbon causes becoming extra power with Pennzoil ethyl gasoline."

"In terms of driving, Pennzoil

ethyl gasoline causes the engine to run more smoothly and delivers more power, particularly on hills and heavy roads. It causes the motor to accelerate more quickly and makes the car easier to handle in traffic. It reduces gear-shifting and eliminates "knocking" without retarding the spark.

"By preventing knocking, permitting full spark advance and reducing gear-shifting, this ethyl gasoline tends to give increased mileage as a car becomes well carboned and therefore higher compression. In my opinion, Pennzoil ethyl gasoline has no substitute, nothing is comparable to this magic fuel and I sincerely believe that the first tankful will convince the most discriminating car owner of this section."

CARE USED BY TAXI DRIVERS

Wright Explains Safety Methods Of Salem Cab Operators

Salem folks who have ridden in some of the taxis in larger cities appreciate the service of our own Wright Taxi Company. Those "big-time" cabs certainly give the occupants plenty of thrills—in fact one would think they were driving on the Indianapolis Speedway instead of city streets. Around corners on two wheels, hair breadth escapes, pedestrians' coat tails being dusted right and left, screeching brakes, sudden stops just in time, bumps, bruises, and a fare at the end of a wild journey that looks like the German war debt!

What a contrast this is to the careful, courteous treatment one receives when riding in one of our Wright cabs. Although these comfortable cabs always are prompt and "take you there" with reasonable speed, "safety first" is the by-word with this firm and the drivers have consideration for the rights of other people. You can ride in a Wright taxi with the same assurance of safety and confidence that you enjoy when riding in your own car. And best of all, it's economical transportation.

The next time your car fails to start, or you don't want to be bothered with the parking problem, just remember that you can call 901 or 266 and one of Wright's new Chevrolet sedans will arrive at your door in a jiffy.

Rough on the Widows

A petition was presented in March, 1733, to the governor of South Carolina, signed by 16 maids, complaining that widows should be restrained from captivating eligible bachelors, that their more youthful charms are neglected, and that no widow should be allowed to marry until the maids were provided for.—Grit.

More Dates for Dessert

Dates are a delight to cooks who enjoy experimenting with new flavors. For they have a unique, incomparable, unanalyzable flavor of their own, and it creates especially delightful blends with other foods. Dates and walnuts, dates with pineapple or pears or bananas, dates with coconut or macaroons, dates with pecans—these are only a few of the possibilities. Incidentally, dates are a simple and wholesome sweet for children, and can well take the place of a rich cake dessert in the lunch box occasionally. A nourishing dessert is:

Date Custard

1 cup pitted dates
2 eggs
2 cups milk.
1/2 teaspoon almond flavor.
Dash of salt.

Plaids, the Decorative Touch

For lightening up the work rooms and storage spaces in the home there's nothing like plaid. And this year, more than ever, they are to be seen in abundance, for plaids are coming back as dress fabrics. In silks, cottons, voiles and the various synthetic fabrics, plaids of brilliant hues are displayed—indeed, they have even, invaded the waterproofs and oilcloths.

A practical value of plaids is the relative permanence of their way hues. Dust does not affect their brilliance so quickly, and if suitable fabrics are chosen for the use intended, cleansing is easy.

Plaid curtains for kitchen and bathroom windows are very practical. In the kitchen cotton fabrics may be used or if a complete plaid effect is possible then oilcloth plaids can be obtained in different widths to take care of windows, closets and shelves. However, only a large kitchen can stand quite that much, but if it is one of those excessively (and rare) roomy affairs, then plaid will brighten it up a good deal.

Plaids are also cheerful as a lining for the numerous closets. In cottons of light weave they can be made up for decorative curtaining of linen closets, clothes closets and occasional cupboards. In the more sturdy fabrics they are utilized as coverings for chests of drawers shoe closets, hat boxes, small linen chests, dressing tables and so on.

Plain walls are, of course, the necessity for juxtaposition with plaids. There can be no competition for attention between a pattern of

MAJOR LEAGUES AGREE TO USE NEW-TYPE BALL

Hope To Lessen Number Of Homeruns During Coming Season

(By Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—Major league batsmen who slugged 1,506 balls over the fences or into the bleachers last season, will have a new and "deader" ball to swing at this year.

Both the National and American leagues have decided that the home-run barrage has gone far enough and a change in the ball's physical aspects is the result.

Thicker Cover Planned
In the National league, the ball will have a thicker cover and heavier stitching. In the American league, the cover will be the same but the stitches will be heavier.

Not only will these changes take some of the liveliness out of the ball, Major league officials confidently expect, but also will give the pitchers a better grip on the ball and thereby increase their effectiveness. Hampered continuously by all sorts of restrictions, pitchers have complained for several years that the smoothness of the ball's cover has made it extremely difficult to control.

Will Aid Pitching
The changes are not drastic enough for any radical decrease in hitting. Officials of both leagues do believe, however, that the changed ball will result in greater pitching efficiency, a decrease in the number of "trick" home runs and a slump in the inflated batting averages of the last few years.

Last season, for instance, ten players in the majors hit 35 home runs or more. Hack Wilson of the Chicago Cubs led both leagues with 56 and Babe Ruth of the New York Yankees was runner-up with 49.

All told the National league hit 892 home runs; the American, 674.

Cage Star

ALLIANCE, Feb. 3.—Leo Grimes scoring guard on the Mount Union Purple capers is one of Coach Bob Wright's aces who will make the sledging tough for Wooster in a clash between the two leading teams of the Ohio Conference in Memorial hall at Alliance, Thursday at 8:00 p. m.

This 195 pound football fullback is an outstanding guard on Mount's strong defense and also rates high in offensive work.

State Saturday illustrated great improvement in the team's offense but such an easy contest prior to a nerve-racking battle of titular importance is seen by Wright as no great aid to his team in its preparation for the Wooster game. Rivalry between the two schools is keener than their relations with any other school in Ohio and Wright is particularly anxious for a victory on that account.

Sixteen games have been played between the two rivals in eight years. Mount has been victorious in 12 and Wooster in four of the games but three of Wooster's wins came in the last four years, displaying the fact that the latter is gradually becoming a power in conference activities.

Wooster was defeated in the game at Mount last year by a 35-29 score in a hectic battle while Mount's varsity dropped a 28-26 verdict to the underdogs in the return fracas at Wooster.

A large crowd of Salem cage addicts will journey to Alliance for the struggle because of keen interest being evinced here in Mount's athletic activities.

Greater Optimism Shown By Ohio Golfers As Season For Assault On Par Approaches

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, Feb. 3.—Golfers from the state at large, having cracked open Columbus' domination of Buckeye golf during 1930, are viewing the approaching season with considerably more optimism than they had at this time last year.

On the eve of the 1930 campaign all the important state and Central district championships were held by golfers from the capital city. Denny Shute was unchallenged among the professionals, John Florio, a mere boy, was amateur champion, and Mrs. Curtis Sohl was champion among the women.

Champs Lose Titles
Mrs. Sohl and Florio lost their titles last summer, however, Johnny's was picked up by another Columbian, Glen Bishop. This allowed the rest of the state only the solace of the women's championship, won by little Miss Hauck of Toledo.

And although Shute's superiority among the pros was not questioned as he went farther than any of the others in the national professional tournament, Bob Shave of Aurora, near Cleveland, attracted much recognition. He had a lower qualifying score than Shute or anyone else at the P. G. A. sectional trial in Lima and he was the ranking Ohio player in the National open at Minneapolis, in which Shute was whipped early.

So Bishop, as amateur champion, and Shute as state open title holder, will be the only Columbus golfers defending state championships this summer, unless Charley Nixon, the southpaw champion, is included as perhaps he should be. Nixon also won in 1929.

Amateurs Not Discouraged
The pros have practically despaired of ever catching Shute, but the amateurs are by no means discouraged about the task of breaking Columbus' four year hold on that championship. Shute won in 1927 while still an amateur, Bill Deuschel won in 1928, Florio in 1929 and Bishop in 1930. Shute, Florio and Bishop all were competing for the Elks golf club which Deuschel has transferred to the Arlington Country club shortly before he won his title, almost a clean sweep for the old and coveted title for the B. P. O. E.

No champion will have sterner competition than Miss Hauck and Bishop this year. Neither was considered a possibility on the eve of the tournament, a year and a half ago, and paths to conquer.

Group defeated Ray Miller of Toledo, 1 up, over the Toledo County club course after all the favorites and best known golfers had eliminated themselves. Florio, sick with infected teeth and a series of boils, could not do himself justice, while the brilliant but inconsistent players found the out-of-bounds stakes too frequently.

Women Display Fight

Miss Hauck won her title at the Scioto club, Columbus, defeating Mrs. Sohl in the finals, 3 and 1. Only the greatest show of fearlessness and determination pulled the young Toledo girl through. She won from Miss Martha Kinsey of Cincinnati in the semi-final and Mrs. Sohl beat Miss Edith Begg of Cleveland.

Shute won his open title for the second consecutive year with a 72-hole total of 287 strokes at the Columbus Elks course. P. O. Hart of Marietta was second four strokes back and Jim Kenney of Toledo third.

In the National open Shute tied for seventeenth position with 303 strokes while Shute required 305 to tie for twenty-fourth place. Tom Raklets of Akron had 316 and Ted Gibraski of Jackson 321. Shave and Shute will not have to qualify this year.

Grid Teams To Meet At Cleveland Field

CLEVELAND, O., Feb. 4.—Purdue and Carnegie Tech may clash on the gridiron of Cleveland's new municipal stadium, now under construction, in 1932, if the efforts of Noble Kizer, Purdue coach are successful.

Kizer, after an inspection of the stadium yesterday, said he expected to be in Pittsburgh next week and would urge the eastern school to consent to transfer of the game here. He said he would support the move before the Purdue faculty athletic board.

Sports, Literature, Business Claim Film Stars' Interest

Survey Of Gay Hollywood's Moving Picture Studios Reveals Many Celebrities Who Don't Crave Headlines

By RONALD WAGONER

(United Press Staff Correspondent)
HOLLYWOOD, CAL., Feb. 4.—A United Press survey of gay Hollywood's moving picture studios indicates that scores of film celebrities lead quiet lives that the chances appear slight that their names ever will appear in sensational headlines.

Happy marriages, engaging hobbies, sideline business interests and such amusements as golf, swimming, tennis, horseback riding and polo keep many stars occupied when they are off the sets.

Sports Claim Followers
Almost every branch of sport and game has its followers in Hollywood. A few celebrities own airplanes and flying is their hobby. Backgammon is popular, but not as much as bridge.

Most stars hesitate to talk about their charities, but many are giving much time and money to benefit others less fortunate.

Will Rogers, for instance, gave $12,500 to the Los Angeles Community chest a short time before he began an airplane tour of the southwest in the interests of the Arkansas drought sufferers. Mary Pickford was the first president of the motion picture relief fund, to which all film workers contribute. Marie Dressler for years has been interested in the Chorus Girls Equity Association.

Ruth Chatterton, Louise Fazenda, George Bancroft, Clive Brook, Anita Page and Maurice Chevalier are included in the swimming crowd.

Golf is the favorite sport of Robert Montgomery, Joan Crawford, Jean Hersholt, Ernest Torrence and Buddy Rogers.

Greta Is Literary

Great Garbo is conversant on the most ancient and modern literature. Adolphe Menjou is Hollywood's authority on what men should wear. El Brendel is the most popular man in his neighborhood because of his ability to fix lawnmowers and broken gates.

Myrna Loy collects Oriental jewelry. Ruth Roland made a fortune buying and selling real estate. Edmund Lowe operates a farm near Santa Clara university.

Johnny Brown, a former all-American football player at Alabama, writes for newspapers during the grid season and is called into consultation by coaches. Robert Montgomery is studying sound recording. Ramon Novarro is engaged in musical research. Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., and Joan Crawford have lived quietly and worked hard since their marriage. Ben Lyon, Wallace Beery, Hoot Gibson and Clarence Brown, director, are capable aviators.

PLEASANT RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

Shoulders droop under weight of years. Young, yet beauty has fled. Cheeks are sallow and drawn. Unsightly pimples. Keep your system clean and you keep the beauty of youth. Its energy. Its irresistible charm. Then life is not a failure.

Clogged bowels and inactive liver cause poisons to seep through the system. Health vanished and with it beauty and energy. Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets will help save you from this dark hour. For 20 years they have been prescribed in place of calomel to men and women seeking health and freedom from constipation. They act easily and smoothly. No dangerous gripping. Take nightly before retiring. Results will amaze you.
